Sec. Howlett won't debate Gov. Walker

Endorsed Monday evening by the Illinois Democratic party as 1976 governor nominee, Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett said Wednesday he is rejecting Governor Daniel Walker's call for debates during the primary campaign.

"It is difficult to debate with someone who twists, bends and distorts the truth," Howlett asserted.

Gov. Walker assailed the party slate, saying, "All of them — to a man — are big and wasteful spenders. They all actively worked to force the state to spend more than it has."

The state central committee endorsed Howlett for governor, State Treasurer Alan J. Dixon of Belleville for secretary of state, Lieutenant Governor Neil F. Hartigan for re-election, Senate President Cecil A. Partridge for attorney general and Michael J. Bakalis, former state superintendent of public instruction, for state comptroller.

James R. Thompson, favored to win the Republican nomination for governor, responded, "It is a (Chicago Mayor Richard) Daley ticket from top to bottom, with only a bone thrown to Downstate."

Alan Dixon — because that is the only way they could back him off the governor's race." All other members of the slate are from Chicago.

The selections generally met with favor among Democratic leaders in Madison County, although some will not take a formal stand at present.

Treasurer Dixon said Tuesday, "I would have been honored and delighted to serve as my party's candidate for governor. But Mike Howlett is senior to me in age and service as secretary and auditor."

"I feel he was the excellent choice. My party has seen fit to name me with looking for the secretary's job, and I think that I and all other Downstaters can take pride in this."

TRAILER OVERTURNS at 8:15 a.m. Wednesday while going toward St. Louis with a 56,000-pound ejection molding machine. The southbound vehicle failed to make a curve from Edwardsville Road into McCambridge Avenue in Madison. Traffic was limited to two lanes for nearly an hour before the trailer could be set upright. Driving for C & H Transportation Co., 2195 W. Chain of Rocks Road, an interstate hauling firm, Sidney F. Shedd recalled hearing "a loud noise, like something had hit me. I looked in my mirror and saw the trailer turning over." Left to right are Officer Marvin Owca and Sgt. William Papa of the Madison police, and Sam and Andy Economy, the latter attaching cables atop the truck. Shedd, 22, of 2903 Buxton Ave., was hospitalized.

Dangerous patients being freed—police

Is the Illinois Department of Mental Health releasing some mentally disturbed persons too quickly and causing a danger to the public and to police officers? Several local authorities answer that question with a resounding "Yes."

Police in the Quad-Cities say they are tired of being threatened by disturbed persons armed with weapons who have been released repeatedly by the Department of Mental Health.

Granite City Chief of Police Ronald Veizer yesterday reviewed the record of one young man who has assaulted police officers on at least four occasions while carrying deadly weapons.

"This is just one example. We have many others here," Veizer noted.

The young man in question has been in Alton State Mental Hospital numerous times in the past few years but is usually released after a few months. "They send him back to us and say he is okay. Within a week, he gets strung out on drugs and it starts all over again," Veizer commented.

He added, "Each time we arrest him, we call the mental health people in here and we petition them to put him away. They put him in Alton State and, before we know it, they have let him escape or have set him free. They don't want him more than we do."

An individual was arrested in October 1973 after displaying two large knives and telling a policeman that any officer approaching him would be killed. He allegedly lunged at the officer, who shot the man in the left leg to protect himself.

In May 1974, the same man was arrested again after displaying a knife and threatening a police captain who was trying to arrest him following a traffic accident.

The officer held a screen door between them closed with his foot and alleged the man pushed the knife at him; the man's

Remembering Pearl Harbor easy for C. E. Blankenship

"Let's remember Pearl Harbor"—the Japanese air attack on America's Pacific fleet moored in Hawaii Dec. 7, 1941.

This was the slogan that helped inspire years of sacrifice by United States citizens and others as they fought in World War II to preserve freedom. The attack had launched direct U.S. involvement in the war against aggressor nations—Germany, Italy and Japan.

One who still remembers Pearl Harbor vividly is Clifton E. Blankenship of Granite City, supervisor of safety, training and employee benefits at the local A. O. Smith Corp. auto frame plant.

A Navy battleship crew member who was on duty at Pearl Harbor when enemy fighters, bombers, dive bombers and torpedo bombers invaded "battleship row" at Pearl Harbor at 7:55 on a Sunday morning, Blankenship still has a slight ringing in his ears resulting from the deafening noise of the bombardment and anti-aircraft fire that day.

The 54th anniversary of the attack will be observed this Sunday.

He and other survivors take special note of the occasion each year, and also periodically participate in ceremonies at the harbor memorial, built atop the sunken battleship Arizona.

Blankenship was serving aboard the Tennessee and was able to lead a gun crew in successfully directing shells at the approaching aircraft—even though most of the sailors were barefoot and attired in tee-shirts and short trousers.

The surprise had been total, and some officers and enlisted

Careless handling of trash discussed

Neglect of many households to abide by regulations for garbage and trash pickups was the target of criticism by some Granite City aldermen Monday night in a discussion of what they described as trash-littered and garbage-strewn alleys in many parts of the city.

Aldermen Roy Paulos of the Third Ward and William Dallas of the First Ward particularly attributed to "some of the people" the unsightly condition of alleys "because they don't care what their yards or the alleys look like."

Most aldermen agreed they have received numerous complaints from residents about the condition of the alleys, primarily as the result of plastic trash bags that are torn open by the SERIOUS FIRE HAZARD results when trash is left near buildings. Granite City firemen said after battling a blaze in trash that ignited at 7:25 p.m. Tuesday at the rear of 1222 Nineteenth St. There was about $50 damage to the building, the firefighters estimated after they succeeded in extinguishing the flames. Commercial facilities occupying a half-block on 19th Street and also some stores on Delmar Avenue could have been endangered if the fire had gone out of control.

Venice school vote Dec. 20

The Venice School District will try again for the fifth time in 2½ years — to obtain voter approval of an increase in the district's educational fund tax rate in a referendum Saturday, Dec. 20.

Venice voters will be asked to approve a proposal to raise the educational fund tax rate by 60 cents per $100 assessed valuation. The current rate is $2.85 per $100 valuation.

A public meeting to answer questions and provide additional information on the referendum will take place at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Venice High School library.

Decision to conduct another referendum to increase school district revenue in the face of a growing financial deficit was reached by school board members at a meeting Monday night.

A fact sheet detailing Venice District's dismal financial picture also was authorized by board members for distribution throughout the district "in an effort to dispel some apparent misunderstandings about the school district operations and/or finances," Superintendent of Schools Robert N. Vickers said.

The average assessment for homes in the Venice District ranges between $3,000 and $6,000. Vickers pointed out, "The means a 60 cent increase in the tax rate would cost the average homeowner $18 to $36 per year, of five to 10 cents daily."

Board members stressed that nine of the 12 unit school districts in Madison County already have a higher school tax rate than Venice District's overall rate of $2.75.

In comparison, they noted, Granite City has a school tax rate of $3.707; Livingston, $3.767; Collinsville, $3.202; Worden, $3.280; Edwardsville, $3.162; Bethalto, $3.113; Triad, $3.143; Madison, $2.894; and Alton, $2.836.

Present assessed valuation of the Venice District is $31,918,043. In 1962, the district's assessed valuation was $39,591,585.

The $7,675,552 loss averages out to a $639,620 decrease per year for the 12-year period. If the same rate of decrease continues, the assessed valuation in 1978 will be $29,337,597. Vickers pointed out, "To meet education fund expenses in the 1975-76 school year, Venice District was forced to borrow $405,000 last year and expects to borrow about $585,000 to cover expenses through June 30, 1976. The new issuance of tax anticipation warrants means borrowing against tax receipts for the next two years."

Salaries and other expenses in the Venice District's educational fund during the 1975-76 school year amount to $621,565 and from other sources, such as state aid, special education, lunch program, etc., $161,000 for

Rehire deputies, grant pay hikes

A "compromise agreement," in which Madison County sheriff's deputies gave up their demand for paid family insurance coverage in return for the rehiring of seven dismissed deputies and a jailer, ended one day of informational picketing by deputies at the Madison County Courthouse at Edwardsville Tuesday.

Monday, Sheriff John Maeras dismissed the eight employees, due to a cut in his department's proposed budget made by the Madison County Board Nov. 26. The trimmed budget is for the 1975-76 fiscal year which began Monday.

The same day, the deputies, members of Operating Engineers Local 520, rejected what had been unofficially termed "the county's final offer." Angered by the personnel cuts, deputies discussed the possibilities of informational picketing, "blue flu," in which many deputies, call in sick, or even a full strike.

At 9 a.m. Tuesday, off-duty deputies surrounded the courthouse, carrying signs denouncing the personnel cuts and the county's contract proposals.

Secretaries of the sheriff's office refused to cross the informational picket line, but all on-duty deputies reported for work. Circuit Clerk Willard V. "Butch" Portell also instructed some of his employees to return home, but later recalled them to work after his action was assailed by some county officials, it was related.

Also early Tuesday, Herbert "Junior" Milton of Granite City, chairman of the county board's negotiating committee, called his committee together to discuss possible revisions in the contract offer.

They agreed to transfer $75,000 from the family insurance

Expand street supervision

A new position of assistant street superintendent was created by the Granite City council Monday night on a recommendation of its Street and Alley Committee, which said there now is an "extreme burden of work" on City Street Superintendent Lionel Portell.

The position will carry a salary of $15,000 per year which Alderman Clyde Boyd, chairman of the Street and Alley Committee, said is a "compromise between the salary of Street Department foremen and the street superintendent. Portell receives $17,500 annually."

The committee's recommendation was made to the council by Boyd who said the committee agreed there is a need for additional supervisory help on the Street Department because of mounting work involving street and sewer repairs and maintenance.

As suggested by Boyd, the assistant street superintendent may be appointed by Mayor Paul Schuler on the basis of applications submitted to the office of City Clerk Robert Stevens through Dec. 15.

Advertising for applicants was authorized by the council after it was made clear that present Street Department workers are eligible to apply for the job.

Alderman Roy Paulos questioned the possibility of a conflict in the responsibilities of the assistant if he is appointed by the mayor, but works under direction of Portell.

Mayor Schuler said he didn't expect that to be any problem as the appointee would work as a supervisory employee with Portell, the same as any other appointed employee works under a department head.

Alderman Frank Greenwald said the salary agreement with the new employee should make clear that he is not to receive the superintendent's pay on days when Portell is not working.

"We've had that on the police and fire departments where assistant chiefs get the chief's pay if he is out of the city or otherwise absent," Greenwald said.

The appointment of an assistant to help in supervisory work was requested by Portell in the Nov. 24 council session. At that time, he said that supervisory duties have become heavier than one man possibly can handle.

Increased duties resulting from sewer repairs, the new sewer television and grouting program, sidewalk construction and street striping were cited by Portell as reasons for the need of additional help.

A motion to create the new position was approved unanimously by a voice vote.

City accepts building

Granite City council members accepted Monday night an offer to donate to the city the two-story building and land at 1300 Nineteenth Street that was damaged in an Aug. 13 fire that destroyed the adjoining structure at 1202 Nineteenth St. The 9 to 2 vote to accept the building was cast after City Attorney George Filcoff reported there is $1,000 in 1974 taxes listed against the property, and City Building Inspector Robert Kelly estimated the cost of razing the fire-damaged building at $3,900. In offering to donate the building to the city, Alfred M. Frager of Maryland Heights, Mo., asked that current taxes extended against the property be waived in return for the contribution.

At the same time, council members delayed action on a similar offer by Bride's World, Inc., of St. Louis, to donate to the city the building at 1302 Nineteenth St. which housed Dorian's Bridal Shop at the time of the fire. Acceptance of this offer was delayed to determine if there are any outstanding taxes or other encumbrances pending against that property. Cost of razing the remains of the Dorian Bridal Shop building has been estimated at $1,500. Alderman Ronald Coleman of the Sixth Ward urged acceptance of the building on the southeast corner of Delmar Avenue and Nineteenth Street offered by Frager, noting that the land has been appraised at $17,000 and the building at $18,000, a total of $35,000. Coleman noted that the city would acquire land worth $17,000 in downtown Granite City at a cost of $4,950 (payment of the taxes plus cost of razing).

In an earlier consideration of the offer to donate the Dorian Shop building, it was noted the

Mrs. Ann Gavilsky, 61, dies

Mrs. Ann M. (Helma) Gavilsky, 61, of 1313 Iowa St., Madison, a lifelong resident of the Quad-Cities, died at Barnes Hospital.

She had been appraised at $6,000. Mayor Paul Schuler and Kelly have supported a plan to construct a municipal metered parking lot on the site of the two buildings.

Surviving is her son Lawrence J. Gavilsky of Chicago. Another son, William Gavilsky, died April 7, 1974. Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Woman hit by car, injured

Mrs. Mary Taylor, 25, of 1737 Edison Ave., was injured when she was struck by the car of Joseph Pinero Jr., 911 Greenwood St., Madison, at 19th and State streets at 3:40 p.m. Tuesday.

Witnesses said the car stopped for a stop sign and then drove into the intersection just as Mrs. Taylor walked into the street. Pinero said sunlight in his eyes obscured his vision.

Mrs. Taylor was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where she was released after treatment and x-rays. She suffered injuries to her left elbow and abrasions to her left wrist.

Edmund Bartoskiak III, former residents, are announcing the birth of their first child, a daughter, born Monday at a Chicago hospital.

The infant weighed seven pounds, two ounces. She has been named Beth Ann.

Illinois Bell installs new underground cables

A contractor for Illinois Bell began work this week on a trench to contain buried cable facilities along 21st Street, according to Illinois Bell Manager Ken Evers at Granite City.

Working on the project is the Triple "S" Construction Co. of Centralia. The job is expected to be completed by Jan. 1.

"This project," Evers explained, "is part of Illinois Bell's ongoing program to improve service in Granite City. This particular job is being carried out to expand the telephone system at Granite City Steel.

Burying communications facilities, it was noted, has many advantages. "Not only will the new equipment be less vulnerable to ice, wind, and lightning, but it also will contribute to 'sight' pollution," Evers said.

Before Illinois Bell completes the excavation job, all sidewalks, streets, grass or other areas disturbed will be put back into a condition comparable to that which was encountered when the job began, he said.

"I'd also like to take this opportunity," Evers added, "to remind persons, contractors or others, who may be digging in the area in the future to keep in mind that the new cable is there. We urge everyone to 'call before they dig' in all cases where they might encounter buried telephone communications cable."

Park board ok's cost for Bicentennial float

The Granite City Park Board last week initiated action for participation in the nation's Bicentennial celebration in 1976.

The board approved expenditure of $500 for construction of a float to be exhibited in a Quad City Bicentennial parade to be held Saturday, July 3, 1976.

The parade is planned by the Quad-City Bicentennial Parade Committee, representing Granite City, Madison, Venice and Pontoon Beach.

A letter from Richard Chosich, Bicentennial coordinator, requesting the Bicentennial commission be permitted to locate a 13' x 26' log cabin at Wilson Park as a historical society building was taken under advisement by the park district until it can be determined who would be responsible for maintenance expenses.

Noting that various leagues which participate in park sports programs will meet in January to form rules for next year, it was suggested that a uniform set of rules, except playing rules, be considered by the board.

Suggested for consideration were: All programs be restricted to park district residents only; no boundary rules; no more than $70 in fees from its present $70 per person; $15, $20 or $25 per person; or an annual non-resident fee of $50 per person.

Approval was given for use of the Wilson Park ice rink on Dec. 24, 1975, Jan. 1, 1976, and Feb. 12, 1976, between the hours of 1 and 3 p.m. on each of those dates.

Persons with park identification cards could utilize the facility at a cost of 25 cents per person a day, and non-residents for 50 cents per person a day.

DeMolays initiate in Iowa

The Masonic Temple in Davenport, Ia. was the scene of ceremonies, during the weekend, when David L. Goodridge, E. Newton Hackney III, Christopher S. Hendrix, John L. McNall, Kirk A. Pettito and Terry A. Sutton became members of James Stuart Chapter, Order of DeMolay.

They were members of the Tri-State Class composed of candidates from Iowa, Missouri and Illinois and named the "Robert Elliott Cooper" Class. Cooper is Ritual Governor for the state of Texas and chairman of the advisory board of Dallas Chapter, Order of DeMolay, Dallas, Tex.

His chapter with a delegation of 45 conferred three sections of the DeMolay degree on the Tri-State class. A degree team from Missouri conferred the fourth section of the DeMolay degree. The initiatory degree was conducted by a team from Iowa with the Iowa State Master Councilor heading the team.

"The Ceremony of Light" was given by the Illinois champion, David Corsini of Swordsmen's Chapter, Joliet, Ill., presented the DeMolay Flower Talk to the candidates.

More than 700 DeMolays, advisors and candidates were in attendance for the one-day affair. Speaking to the group were Dan Rhodes, state master councilor for Illinois, and Mark White, state master councilor from Nebraska. Mark Loebe, the international master, and Ralph Barker is the faculty advisor.

remarks that the degree teams excellently portrayed the character-building aspect of the order and the cooperation of the states involved emphasized the fact that "DeMolay stands for brotherhood." State master councilors also were present from Indiana and Wisconsin. DeMolays from the local chapter in attendance were Norman Burgess, Merle Castellini, David Cavaness, Barry Church, Thomas Ebrecht and Delbert Sipes. They were accompanied by advisors Charles E. Hileman Jr., Robert F. Maxwell, Charles A. Meyer, Joseph Vaughn and Ellis N. Hackney.

The film will be shown on Wednesday, Dec. 17, to the juniors and seniors and on Thursday, Dec. 18, to the freshmen and sophomores.

"American Graffiti" deals with teenagers during the late 1950's and early 1960's. Paula Kohl is president of the South Student Council and the international master, Ralph Barker is the faculty advisor.

County workers ratify pact

The Madison County board will be asked this month to approve a contract with American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees union which has been ratified by the union's members.

The union represents 50 percent of county employees. Provisions of the contract proposal have not been released, pending approval by the County Board later this month.

The board has approved a three-year contract with Teamsters, Chauffeurs and Helpers Local 525, which represents 33 workers in the county highway and animal control departments.

The contract provides for a 20 cent hourly wage increase in the first year plus a 14-cent per hour cost-of-living increase. Health and fringe benefits also are improved as the county will pay $12.50 per employee each week to the Teamsters' Health & Welfare Fund program.

Those increases became effective Monday. In the second year, each employee shall receive a 25 cent per hour wage increase plus a cost-of-living increase equal to one cent per hour for each one-half percent increase in the Consumer Price Index.

Another 25 cent increase plus a cost of living raise are provided in the third year of the contract.

Herbert "Junior" Milton of Granite City, chairman of the County Board's negotiating committee, commented as the board approved the contract that he is happy a three-year agreement was reached which will end the expense and difficulties of negotiating a new contract with the Teamsters each year.

After approving the Teamsters' contract, the board approved a resolution amending the present county job classification study which eliminates anniversary increases for employees. The resolution allows negotiated increases only with pre-arranged anniversary steps prohibited.

It was explained that the change affects union employees only. The change was approved on a 27-2 vote. Illinois Hospital and Health Services Co. was selected as the new company to provide county employees with health and life insurance.

JOIN THE PEOPLE WHO'VE JOINED THE ARMY

A lot of young people have discovered a good time to invest their time—the Army.

Some came to learn a skill in a job of their choice. Some came for the chance to travel.

Some came to meet a challenge. Like the responsibility of doing a good job at an early age.

Some came to get a start on college education. With the Army paying up to 75% of their tuition.

And some came to do something positive for their Country. Which is a pretty good reason in itself.

North Band makes debut

Granite City High School North Band performed its initial concert of the 1975-76 season Tuesday night in the auditorium at South High School.

The season opener featured band members in formal gowns and concert band tuxedo uniforms. A variety of musical selections was played, ranging from Christmas carols to contemporary music and narrated pieces.

North Concert Band will present three additional performances. Admission is by season ticket or single admissions purchased at the door, costing $1 for adults, 50 cents for students and 10 cents for any band member.

The program selected for this week's hour-long concert included: "A Spillfire Prelude" by Walton; "American Spice" by Westcott; "Border Festival" by Clifton Williams; "Sinfonia Nobilissima," a contemporary work by Jager.

The 85-member band was under the direction of Robert D. Todoroff, band director. Arrangements for the concert were made by the Granite City High School North Band Parents Association, led by Harold Staker, president.

Madrigals sing at St. Peter's

A program of Christmas songs was presented by the Madrigal Chorus of Granite City High School South Monday evening at St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ, preceding the monthly meeting of the Evening Guild.

The devotions, "A Christmas Meditation," was given by Mrs. Ruth Ann Bartels and Miss Leona Wintermeyer.

Mary Kettelhut played a selection of songs for Afternoon Guild members, who were guests for the evening, while the host group held a business session.

Mrs. Annabelle Patton, a member of a special executive committee to plan the 75th anniversary of the church during 1976, reported progress made on various projects planned. She said programs and events will be held throughout the year and a poster slogan contest will be featured.

It was announced that "hanging of the greens" in the church will take place Dec. 14, and volunteers are needed to assist with the work.

Twenty-eight members and 20 guests attended and donated cash gifts in lieu of a holiday gift exchange. The contributions will be used to purchase new clothing and shoes for area children in need through the Christian Welfare Association.

Plan to visit-nursing home

Plans for Cub Scouts to visit the Madison County Nursing Home Dec. 22 to sing Christmas carols and decorate a tree were announced at a meeting of Cub Pack 28 held last week at Parkview School.

Cubmaster Frank Fleming asked each Cub Scout to bring a can of food as "admission" to the Christmas pack meeting set Dec. 16 at the school.

Den 4 was in charge of the opening ceremony followed by Larry McElroy, awards chairman, presenting Bobcat badges to new cubs, Donald Tinkley, Paul Harris, Boyd Presley, Mike Fleming, Mike Lewis, Greg McElroy, Tom Townsend, Ron Battreall, Jeff Cotter, Richard Merrick, Adam Schneider and Greg Kessler.

One-year service stars and perfect attendance pins went to Mike Bellipani, Brian Levin, Andy McPherson, Jeff McPherson, Tim Rea, Chris Rose, Randy Robinson, Greg Levin, Mike Novich and Joe Marlette.

Stronger state law against shoplifting

Christmas is approaching and this year merchants in Illinois are protected against shoplifting by one of the nation's strongest anti-shoplifting laws. Illinois Law Enforcement Director Harvey N. Johnson Jr. points out that the 1975 session of the General Assembly approved legislation and Governor Daniel Walker signed into law in October a bill that strengthens the state's shoplifting laws by creating a separate crime of retail theft. Johnson said, "The new law is one of the most comprehensive and far-reaching shoplifting laws in the nation. It has retail theft as a separate definition within the theft statutes."

"I don't have to tell anyone that retail prices are on the rise. However, this increase is not caused entirely by inflationary economic conditions. A great deal of it is caused by theft, and somewhere along the line the retailer has to make up his losses.

"Our own figures—compiled from the nearly 1,000 police agencies in Illinois—show there were 175,307 thefts reported to police in 1974. This is theft in all categories and it cost the public $34.7 million in property losses. Shoplifting alone accounted for $1,255,098 of that figure.

"For a merchant to stay in business, part of this cost," Johnson said, "if not all of it, must be passed on to the consumer. It's either higher prices for you or higher insurance rates for him, and on both counts you, the buyer, lose."

"Shoplifting is so prevalent that merchants have been forced to take elaborate precautions to prevent it. Some merchandise is chained to racks and sophisticated burglar systems on doors and merchandise are set to go off when receiving and sending devices intersect—electronic eyes placed on elevators, doors and windows."

"Such preventive measures cost money, too. Again, the merchant must pass on his cost. "There is only one way," Johnson believes, "to help curb such costs to the shopping public—a law that makes the offender liable to civil action by the store operator."

"Until Gov. Walker signed this bill, shoplifting was a misdemeanor buried in the theft statutes."

"Now, as a separate offense, this new law will allow the merchant to sue the offender for civil damages of $100 to $500 and the store need not have a conviction verdict or a guilty plea to initiate such a suit. "Shoplifting is a crime which our society looks on as sort of a joke. Often you hear people say, 'I'm going out to do my annual Christmas shopping.'"

"The joke, unfortunately, is on us," Johnson said. "Because for those who are serious about shoplifting, the tab costs all of us an additional 10 to 30 per cent for retail merchandise."

"Taken seriously and rigorously enforced, this new law could easily bring the cost of merchandise back down, whether it be men's socks or salad dressing."

"In addition to giving Illinois one of the better anti-shoplifting laws in the nation, the legislative action defines in greater detail the various acts of shoplifting violations to aid police agencies in specifically booking a violator, and helps prosecutors in establishing their case in court," he said.

The 1975 law established retail theft as including merchandise for sale by a retail or wholesale business, as opposed to general theft. It also includes:

"Label altering," the practice of switching labels of known inexpensive merchandise onto those of higher priced items and switching of price tags for the same purpose.

"Under checking," a practice of employees where the price rung up on the cash register is less than the price marked.

"Changing containers," much the same practice as label altering, utilized where changing the entire container is more practical for the purpose of deceit.

And "cart theft," whereby a person may be prosecuted for the theft of store carts, such as grocery carts.

Holiday music event Sunday

The annual Christmas program of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will feature Ralph Vaughan Williams' musical masterpiece, "Hodie," Sunday at 8:15 p.m. in Meridian Ballroom.

Under the direction of Leonard Van Camp, director of choral activities at SIUE, the Community Choral Society, University Chorus and Concert Chorus will combine forces with the University Orchestra.

"The text is taken from a variety of sources, both scriptural and secular," said Van Camp. "The imaginative scoring brings to the listener a range of choral, orchestral and soloistic colors and effects. Thrilling climaxes are interspersed between moments of quiet and contemplation."

Among the performers will be Sarah Traversa Turner, chairman of the voice faculty at SIUE; Bert Kageff, instructor at SIU at Carbondale; Donald Armstrong, director of choral activities at Illinois State University at Bloomington; Robert Schieber, director of orchestral activities at SIUE; and Deborah Bennett, an organ major also from SIUE.

The program is one of several events offered throughout the year by the University Cultural Arts Council.

Free throws plague South in road game

Twice this season, Warrior fouls have helped put victories in enemy pockets.

GCHS South's Warrior cagers, winless in three outings, outscored Jerseyville Saturday from the floor but lost 38-56 when the opponents got 20 points from the foul line.

On Tuesday night at Taylorville, the Warriors hit on 26 of 38 field goals, only one less goal than the hosts, but South lost when Taylorville outplayed the Warriors on charity tosses, 13-7. Taylorville won 67-59.

On Tuesday night at Taylorville, the Warriors hit on 26 of 38 field goals, only one less goal than the hosts, but South lost when Taylorville outplayed the Warriors on charity tosses, 13-7. Taylorville won 67-59.

"It was a close contested game," Coach Bryan Wilkinson noted. "They shot with accuracy all the way."

"And we stayed in there with them. But fouls proved to be our downfall."

The Warriors trailed 16-11 after the first quarter, but narrowed the gap to one point, 28-28 at halftime. Scoring six points apiece were Jim Nolan and John Slay.

Taylorville increased the score to 49-42 at the conclusion of the third period, hitting on eight field goals and four charity tosses during that quarter.

South connected in the fourth period with eight baskets and one foul shot for 17 points, but the hosts tallied 18 points.

Rebounding was close, Taylorville getting 24 and South 23.

Taylorville gave up possession 17 times on turnovers, and South 13 times.

Steve Schmedde scored 24 of Taylorville's points.

Nolan, a 6-6 senior, garnered 18 points for South.

Warrior Rich Fancher scored 14 points, Slay 12, Mike McRaven nine, David Rhodes four and Frank Holmes, two.

Lincoln Place will play Winfield Construction at 11 a.m. and Hago's will play Lazio at 1 p.m.

On Saturday, Granite City (2-1) will meet Belleville (0-3) at 10 p.m. and Wood River (0-3) will play O'Fallon (2-1) at 11:30 p.m.

Madison foes finding it hard to keep up with the Joneses

Madison brothers Ron and Randall Jones provided their own teamwork Tuesday evening at the Madison High School gymnasium, combining their efforts in ball stealing and inside passing to help both the Trojans' cage mark to 3-0 with an 89-73 victory over the Pacific, Mo., Indians.

Although the two—Ron, a 6-3, 155-pound senior and Randall, a 6-3, 160-pound junior—believe in overall team effort, Tuesday proved to be an exceptional night for them.

Ron Jones repeatedly stole the ball to drive downcourt for layups, and sometimes he fed it inside to Randall for additional points.

Ron hit on 12 of 18 shots from the floor and five of six from the charity stripe to finish with 29 points. Randall Jones connected with 12 of 17 field goal attempts for a total of 24 points.

Opening the game with accurate shooting Madison quickly gained an eight-point lead but then lost it when Pacific rallied to surge ahead by one.

The quarter then turned into a seamy scoring effort by both schools, but Madison gained an eight-point, 26-18, margin at the end.

Second-quarter action provided fans with basically a repeat of the opening period, with Pacific getting a slight edge. The visitors stayed within striking distance at halftime, trailing 49-42.

The Jones brothers took to the court for the second half with 29 points between them, Ron with 16 and Randall 13 at that point.

Ron Jones, who had been deadly earlier with layups, turned his "hot hand" to the outside, hitting six times in the third period from about 20 feet. Randall provided six points and four other players also scored. Madison scored to a 77-54 lead by the conclusion of the third period.

Pacific outgunned the Trojans 18-12 in the final period. Dan Hellum with 19 points and Jim Glass with 18 led Pacific. Both are seniors and were selected last season to Missouri all-state teams.

From the floor, Madison shot with 57 per cent accuracy, 29 of 51, and was 47 per cent from the foul line, 11 of 23.

Pacific shot 62 per cent from the floor, 30 of 48, and tossed in 13 of 22 free throws.

The Indians committed the most turnovers, 15-11, and the schools had the same number of fouls, 22 each.

Ron Jones pulled down seven of his team's 39 rebounds and assisted 11 times in scoring. Pacific recovered 29 off the boards.

Rounding out Madison's scoring were: Ron Williams 11, Danny Bankhead 10, Edwin Garrett nine and Joe Gulash, six points.

Remaining bout results were:

Junior, doubled North's lead with a pin in 1:32 to his 105-pound foe.

Hazelwood's Hawks picked up four points in 112-pound competition with a 12-2 decision over Kirk Davis, and each team got two points when Matt McCullough wrestled his 119-pound opponent to a 3-3 draw.

Leading 14-6, the Steelers then captured seven of the remaining eight weight classes, including five in a row.

Remaining bout results were:

Trailriders donate to Shrine hospital

The Trailriders Saddle Club of Granite City will present a check of $375 to the Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children at a meeting Tuesday at Lincoln Place Community Center.

Don James, Trailriders president, said the funds were collected at a special "Fun Show" staged in September by the local riding club at its arena on Chouteau Slough Road, near Rock Road and the Chain of Rocks Canal levee.

Also at Tuesday's 7 p.m. meeting, representatives of the Shrine Hospital will show films of the treatment, rehabilitation and facilities at the nationally acclaimed hospitals for crippled children.

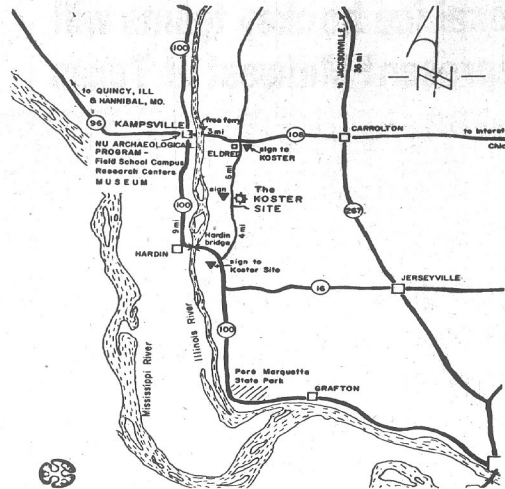

James invited the public to attend the film showing and check presentation.

The Trailriders now has a membership exceeding 150, Giles Ray Smith, treasurer, reported. The club holds fun shows and competitive events throughout the spring, summer and autumn months at its arena and takes part in community parades and similar activities.

Current club officers, who were returned to office in an election last month, include: James, president; Dan Bowman, president; Smith, treasurer; and Miss Ginger Bowman, secretary and public relations officer.

DEFENSIVE DRIVING. To better prepare themselves for the challenge of today's driving, 34 Madison County residents have completed a defensive driving course. Quad-Cityans included (left to right) William Upton, Ethel Upton, Margie Tarasovich, Sandy Mueller, Rose Bauer and Alma Walker. The course was sponsored by the Farm Bureau Women's Committee and taught by Eldon Gouley. Drivers interested in the course enroll by mail, sending their name, address and $1 to cover the charge for materials; the Women's Committee returns the dollar to each person completing the eight-hour course. The committee also furnishes those attending a free lunch on each of the two days. The Young Farmers Committee has provided a free baby-sitting service in an attempt to encourage young married people to avail themselves of the opportunity.

EARLY MAN Mystery comes to surface

By DAVE PALERMO

EVANSTON, Ill. — Archaeology. A "digging thing." A means of understanding ancient cultures by unearthing remnants of graves and settlements. It is, perhaps, the only means by which man can determine his still-mysterious origins.

Yet for many years archaeology has been buried as deeply as the many ancient civilizations it has attempted to unearth and understand. It has been buried not under tons of soil and rocks but rather in the back rooms of our colleges and universities.

"It strikes me as agonizing that archaeology holds such a minor role in education," says archaeologist Stuart Struver, chairman of the archaeology department at Northwestern University. "Vocational courses are easier to introduce in community colleges than academics."

"Great Britain and the United States are the only two major countries which have taken any role at all in archaeology."

"Archaeology provides some kind of coherent sense of human behavior and human history — religious, economic and psychological history. It has enormous integrative powers."

Struver for many years has been fighting the academic ignorance of the importance of archaeology. It was he who initiated the now famous Koster Dig near a small town about 45 miles from St. Louis, Mo. The Koster excavation is considered the most important archaeological expedition in Northern America, and it was there that we learned man lived in the Illinois River Valley more than 8,000 years ago, long before the pyramids were constructed in Egypt.

It is no small coincidence that there has been more progress in archaeology in the past 10 years than during the previous 100 years, and it is no coincidence that most of the attention has centered around Struver, who has been written up in several national publications, including Time magazine and the New York Times newspaper.

Today Struver divides his hours between the Koster site, the classrooms at Northwestern University, and the lecture circuit, where he speaks on the increasing need for more emphasis on the "digging" science.

Digs such as that which is taking place at the Ted Koster farm in Greene County, Ill., are changing many long-held beliefs of the origin of man, Struver said. It has served as proof that man did not arrive on a Viking's ship, or with the crew of Christopher Columbus, or in a hollowed-out canoe piloted by Indian Jeff Chandler and his faithful squaw Deborah Fager.

Archaeology, Struver says, is teaching us to look at man as we look at other animals, but within the context of a culture, which he defines as "a human-derived tool to buffer the human animal from its natural and social environment."

Archaeology "changed the name of the game" and did away with the bigoted notion that Indians were "very simple people, without the basic capabilities of higher intellect."

It is the Koster Dig, Struver said, which helped dispel the notion that prehistoric man lived a struggling existence, a 24-hour fight for survival. Those who lived in the fertile Illinois valley did not, as many believe, have a natural instinct to "better themselves to progress."

"Judging from all the clues we have found, man led a good life in the Illinois River Valley in archaic times, Struver said. "He had plenty of leisure time in which to domesticate pets. It's sheer folklore that primitive people had to struggle from dawn to dusk simply to survive."

"How hard a man works depends a lot on what he considers necessary goals in life, and there was no environmental imperative in the valley requiring man to work hard."

It is also important to note that the Koster Dig provided additional proof that men did live in permanent settlements long before the dawn of agriculture and were not nomadic creatures, as was long believed to be true. They gathered hickory nuts, they built shelters, they hunted ducks with nets and they drove fish from small ponds and lakes.

All this is learned, Struver says, through the study of "human history, not Western history." All this is learned by digging up ancient settlements, piecing together graves, sifting through soil to separate minuscule particles of plant life and prehistoric organisms, such as the bones and scales of fish and snails. It is all learned without the knowledge of man's behavior in 5500 B.C., and without benefit of written description.

New coach shaping Illini cage quintet

By DAVE FRYE

Lou Henson says it's time to forget the University of Illinois' slush fund scandal of the late 1960s and get on with the business of making the school a viable force in Big 10 basketball again.

Successor to Gene Bartow as Illinois' basketball coach, Henson brings impressive credentials to his new post after a nine-year residence at New Mexico State.

At New Mexico, Henson's teams posted a 172-7 record, which brought his lifetime mark to 364-123. He's a journeyman in the business of putting ailing basketball programs back on their feet, as evidence at NMS where he brought his team from a 4-22 season to respectability (15-11) in just one year.

"Someone asked me about my sense of humor," Henson said. "I told them, 'you have to have a sense of humor to coach at Illinois these days.'"

"The one thing that worries me in coming, though," he cracked, "is that while going through my current insurance policies, I realized there's no benefits if I commit suicide."

While those are the kind of statements that have made Illini backers wince in recent years, they're also the type of statements Henson is out to stop.

"Seriously, I came to Illinois because I definitely think the program can become competitive and a winner in basketball again," Henson said. "What we need to do is forget the negative things that have happened and start on a new road."

To do that, Henson has begun a statewide junket to woo and win high school and junior college coaches, something his predecessors had left slip.

"The future of University of Illinois' basketball hinges on what takes place among the coaches of high school and junior college coaches right here in our own state," Henson said.

"We think the players in Illinois are as good as you'll find anywhere in the nation. We're going to spend all our time right here in our own back yard working to bring Illinois players to their home university."

"If we can do that, the first giant step toward basketball respectability will have been taken."

Henson's job begins, then, with stopping the drain of talent that has supplied the coaches of Indiana, Michigan and Purdue with top-flight players for several years. One of the key ingredients needed, he believes, is support for the current Illinois basketball team.

"I talked to a young man from Illinois who had chosen another university after being recruited by us and asked him what was the determining factor that sent him out of state," Henson said.

"He told me when he visited the Illinois campus for a game there were only 6,000 fans. When he visited the other school, there were 17,000 out to watch the game."

"Fan support definitely does make a difference," Henson's teams will rely on fastbreak basketball, but with an emphasis on defense, something he believes is the predominant factor in determining a Big 10 champion.

"When you have 40 minutes in a basketball game," Henson said, "that usually means you have the ball an average of 20 minutes and the other team has it the other 20 minutes."

"Teams that stand around during the 20 minutes they don't have the ball are the ones that get beat."

With only two scholarships to dole out this year — one of which went to 6-7 Ken Ferland — Henson returns a team that posted an 8-18 record last year. Still, he's optimistic.

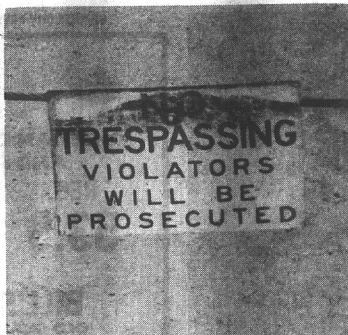

"Certainly we have a tough schedule this year, and certainly there's a big challenge waiting for us."

"But we're going to a three-guard offense, with two forwards. We don't have the big man, so we'll concentrate on running people inside and outside."

"And, we'll do whatever is necessary — and that means playing a slow-down game if we have to — to try to win as many games as we can."

NO TRESPASSING SIGN used to close a portion of Franko Lane, a township road, to the public and to isolate a section of the road, allegedly for farmers and also for duck hunting by a small group. Some Chouteau residents say the road previously was used for access from Old Alton Road to Illinois Highway Three and is needed in the northern Mitchell area. (Press-Record Photo)

CABLE BLOCKING ACCESS onto the western end of Franko Lane north of Interstate 270. Chouteau Township Highway Commissioner James Estes has declined to remove the cable despite assertions by the county superintendent of highways staff that it is a township road and should be open to the public. A spokesman for the county superintendent said yesterday other county authorities "have been made aware" of the issue. (Press-Record Photo)

IN MOURNING FOR THE UN. The United Nations flag is shown being flown at half-staff at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, at the direction of President John S. Rendleman, "because of the irresponsible and irrational action of the United Nations General Assembly, crudely identifying Zionism with racism." The president added that the action was taken "more in mourning for the sad compromise of the ideals of that body rather than in protest." The president also directed that the Bicentennial flag be flown at the top of the same staff for a week, "symbolizing the ideals which make this nation commit itself to world unity and the free and open discussion of issues that can lead to peace and freedom for all nations."

portion of the contract into salaries to allow the dismissed employees to be reinstated and also to offer a 42-cent per hour increase in wages to all the union deputies and jailers.

Milton notified the union business representatives that the county was willing to modify its offer and the union negotiators agreed to meet with Milton's committee at 2 p.m. Tuesday.

That meeting lasted two hours and at 4 p.m., an announcement was made that tentative agreement had been reached. Union members ratified the agreement Tuesday night.

Milton said he was very pleased with the agreement, noting the final package came with $1,000 of the original appropriation made by the county board Nov. 26. The extra $1,000 will be available from a provision in the county's budget for negotiated salary increases which was included in the event new contracts exceeded the expectations of the new departmental budgets.

The agreement with the deputies was the third and final contract to be settled by the negotiating committee.

Both the Operating Engineers' contract for the deputies and jailers, and the contract of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, representing most other county employees, will be voted upon by the Madison County Board Dec. 17.

The county board approved a contract with Teamsters' Local 525 at the board's Nov. 26 meeting. That contract covered employees in the highway and animal control departments.

The tentative settlement with Operating Engineers affects 84 employees, including 47 patrolling deputies.

CASH BAD CHECKS

Three stolen checks were cashed for a total of $215 by either one or two women, officials of Schnucks grocery, 3801 Nameoki Road, reported to police at 2 p.m. Tuesday. All three checks were reported stolen from a Granite City woman, police determined.

Coal plant to stimulate construction

Coalcon expects to employ a thousand construction workers and an operating force of 400 employees for its New Athens demonstration plant to convert coal to clean boiler fuel.

Describing the potential economic lift for St. Clair County and the surrounding area, Coalcon's New York headquarters said it hopes the impact will continue well beyond the construction and the test and evaluation period.

Attesting to the speed with which Coalcon is tackling the $237 million project, a source said: "We're ahead of schedule and we're now in the design and planning stage."

The design phase will continue for 18 months at a cost of $17 million.

Dr. Robert C. Seamans, administrator of the Energy Research and Development Administration, announced on Nov. 17 the selection of New Athens as the site for the joint federal-private venture to demonstrate the commercial feasibility of converting high-sulfur coal to clean-burning liquid and gaseous fuels.

Coalcon won the ERDA contract as prime contractor and formed a consortium for the undertaking.

The demonstration plant is to have a design life of 20 years. Coalcon is committed to purchase the plant upon completion of three years of operating and testing under the contract.

The Coalcon source said the New Athens site "could facilitate a commercial operation" and it is the prime contractor's hope that coal conversion can continue there for the life of the available coal reserves.

Although Peabody Coal Co. has strip-mined the near-surface coal, there are 1.6 billion tons of mapped reserves of Herrin coal in the immediate area.

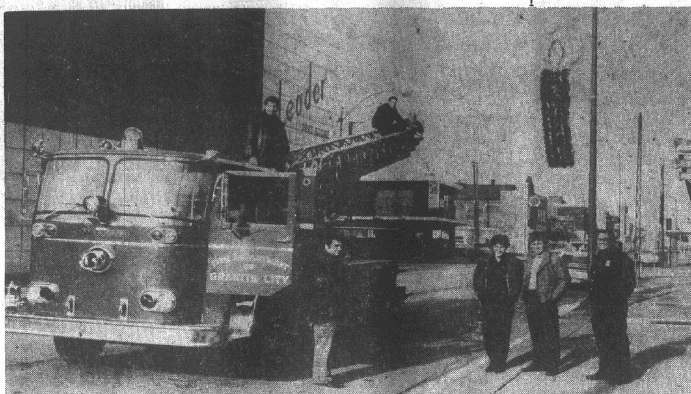

Coalcon estimates it will take a thousand workers 30 months to build the demonstration plant, which would be about a fifth the size of a commercial plant. Construction is to start in 1977.

Based on 1974-75 construction costs, Coalcon estimated $142,500,000 for construction. How inflation may affect this estimate is not immediately known.

This schedule can put the plant in operation about 1980. The succeeding 42 months would be spent in testing and evaluating the conversion process at a cost of $72,500,000.

Coalcon envisages a force of 400 operators and supervisory personnel while the plant undergoes test and evaluation. Although New Athens will contribute some of the construction labor force, it is too small to provide all the workers.

Coalcon estimates there is a labor force of 34,000 within a 30 minute commuting distance of the plant site, which is one mile from New Athens.

Some GC redistricting possible

Granite City council members Monday night disclosed that redistricting of precinct boundaries in Wards One, Two, Three and Four is under consideration, but generally the proposal met with little enthusiasm. A special committee made up of William Dallas, Ward One;

Frank Greenwood, Ward Two; and Clyde Boyd, Ward Three, has conducted preliminary talks concerning possible changes to revise city precinct boundaries so that they do not conflict with county precinct boundaries, the council was told. Mayor Schuler appointed Alderman Warren Decatur, Fourth Ward, as a member of the committee to take part in future discussions.

Dallas told the council, however, that he did not care to undertake all the work involved in redistricting processes if the council later disagreed with the committee decisions and failed to approve the committee's work.

Gerald Parney, alderman of Ward Six, said he believed any changes proposed by the committee of the first four wards should be up to those aldermen and he couldn't see any reason why the aldermen in Wards Five, Six and Seven should have any objections.

"I've been through all this before and I know we work days and nights to get something together. Then if it is going to be kicked out by the other council members, there is no need of going through with all this," Dallas said.

Sam Whitmer of the Second Ward, said he could see no reasons for any changes. "I'm satisfied the way things are," he said.

Alderman Roy Poulos of the Third Ward said he also is satisfied and "as far as I'm concerned things will stay the way they are."

Boyd said that consideration of precinct boundary changes was begun because of overlapping city and county precinct boundaries in the first four wards. He said that there are 25 city precincts and 31 county precincts, resulting in the conflicting boundaries.

Club closing to make room for proposed treatment plant

The John Marshall Gun Club will cease operations after this month due to plans being drawn up for installing a treatment plant near Horseshoe Lake as part of Granite City Steel's water treatment facilities.

If it is approved by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, construction of the new system is to cost over $10 million.

Currently, a system removes most of the impurities from water used in the plant. It is credited with achieving a "cleaner water discharge than that at most steel plants. The water is discharged into Horseshoe Lake from treatment basins.

Water quality standards adopted by the Illinois Pollution Control Board and interpreted by the Illinois EPA require that water now being discharged be reduced in suspended solids, iron and ammonia-nitrogen content. The water treatment plant proposed is intended to reduce the levels to acceptable levels. The lagoons will remain a part of the overall water treatment system.

The treatment plant would use breakpoint chlorination for ammonia removal, deep-bed filtration for suspended solids and iron removal, and sulfur dioxide injection to remove chlorine residuals.

Land currently occupied by the Marshall Gun Club—an organization made up of active and retired Granite City Steel employees as well as others—will be used for the treatment plant.

The club has been asked to vacate the land by Jan. 1. No plans have yet been made for relocation of the club facilities. Granite City Steel requires a large volume of water—70 million gallons a day—for cooling of equipment and for steel mill processes. Most of this water is brought to the plant through a pipeline from the Chain of Rocks Canal.

Much of it is reused several times before it goes to settling basins, skimming ponds and stabilization lagoons that make up the present water pollution control program.

After the plant goes into operation, 25 million gallons a day could be treated for release into Horseshoe Lake while the rest would be recirculated to the plant for reuse.

A 48-inch pipeline is to be installed for returning the water to a 10-million-gallon water reservoir at 21st and Monroe Streets.

Sverdrup and Parcel and Associates of St. Louis are doing engineering work on the new system. A target of mid-1977 has been set for putting the water treatment plant into operation.

Madison police cut confirmed

An ordinance reducing the Madison Police Department from 13 commissioned officers to 12 officers was enacted Tuesday night by the Madison City Council.

Madison Patrolman Pete Kostecki was laid off Monday. Lack of money in the city's general operating fund was given by Mayor Mike Sasyk as the reason for the reduction in the police force.

Kostecki was hired as a uniformed patrolman. Educating Thomas Voloski who has been working for the past year under a federal grant that created a joint Madison-Venice detective unit.

"Continuing under the grant would cost the city between $8,000 and $10,000 and we are in a real financial crunch," Mayor Sasyk said. "I will talk to the director of the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission (ILEC) and see if we can make some alterations in the original grant that would reduce the direct cost to the city."

"I hope we can come to some favorable solution and I will bring a report back to the council at the next meeting," Sasyk said.

"Our firemen met Monday and have voluntarily agreed to cut back the number of training nights which will save the city about $500 a month. The fire chief, Eldon Rhoads, feels that the majority of the firemen are seasoned fire fighters and the reduction in training will not seriously hamper their effectiveness."

Woodmen to form junior club in GC

A Modern Woodmen of America Junior Service Club will be instituted in Granite City at an organizational party Tuesday, Dec. 9.

Robert Budnicki, Granite City, the fraternal life insurance society's district representative in this area, said it will be the 55th such club in Illinois. There are 300 junior clubs active throughout the U.S. The clubs stress citizenship, community service and social activity. Monthly meetings feature planned recreation geared to boys and girls of all ages.

Budnicki, who will have charge of the organization ceremonies, said 91 children in Granite City age 16 and under will be in the charter group. Mrs. Diane Budnicki, Granite City, is the group's junior director. The new club is part of Camp 3791, Granite City. Charles Thurber, Granite City, is camp secretary.

Members at Tuesday's meeting will receive emblematic axe membership pins. There will be souvenirs, prizes and refreshments.

Benefits given widowed fathers

Changes in Social Security regulations to make them conform to a Supreme Court decision granting benefits to widowed fathers of dependent children have been proposed by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The proposed regulations would formally implement a March 19, 1975, decision in Weinberger vs. Wiesenfeld in which the court overturned an unconstitutional provision of the Social Security Act that granted benefits to widows with children in their care but not to widowers.

Under the new regulations, benefits are payable to either surviving parent.

An estimated 18,000 widowed fathers were made eligible immediately for Social Security benefits by the Supreme Court decision. The regulations establish March 1975 as the first month of eligibility for fathers' benefits.

$350 IN TOOLS TAKEN
A toolbox containing tools worth about $350 was stolen from the truck of Joe Miller, 2104 St. Clair Ave., it was reported at 4:25 p.m. Tuesday. The right vent window of the truck was opened and the door unlocked to gain entry.

Peanut sales

Kiwanis topic

Increasing the annual peanut sales was discussed Monday evening at the regular meeting of the Granite City Kiwanis club in Charlie's Restaurant.

Kiwanian Garrett Koepke of the Edison Nargood Kiwanis Club near Chicago was a guest and reviewed how his club conducted the sales.

Peanut sales are held annually by Kiwanians in Illinois to raise funds for needy children.

Michael Tondas, club president, reminded the Kiwanians they will ring bells for the Salvation Army on Saturday between 9 a.m. and 8 p.m. at 19th street and Edison Avenue, and at Schermer's Market in Madison.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES D. BREWER, who were united in marriage at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church. The bride is the former Miss Diane Fecurka, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Fecurka, 4000 Melrose Ave.

Brewer-Fecurka wedding at St. Elizabeth Church

Miss Diane Fecurka, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Fecurka, 4000 Melrose Ave., and James Dennis Brewer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Brewer, 2710 Madison Ave., exchanged wedding vows in an afternoon ceremony on Oct. 25 at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church.

Fall flowers and lighted tapers adorned the altar for the double ring ceremony, performed at 2 p.m. by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Lawrence Mattingly.

Organist Jeff Sherman played "If" preceding the service.

Guests were received by the couple at a reception held at Trinity Hall in Madison after the ceremony.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride selected a full-length gown of ivory polyester featuring a high neckline trimmed with narrow lace. Lace was repeated at the edge of the short puff sleeves.

She wore a halo of baby's breath and white carnations in her hair to secure a melody-length veil of ivory illusion. Her tearful bouquet was made up of white carnations, baby's breath and greenery.

Attending the bride were her sisters, Miss Debbie Fecurka, honor attendant, and Miss Dawn Fecurka, bridesmaid.

Mrs. Don Smith, the groom's sister, also served as a bridesmaid.

All were gown in formal-length dresses accented with ivory lace and designed to match the bride's gown.

Each wore a floral headband in her hair and held a nosegay of orange carnations, baby's breath, brown pompons and greenery.

The groom chose Kenny Jadas as his best man. Dave Nolan, Jim Townsley, Jeff Hamilton, the bride's cousin, and Don Smith, the groom's brother-in-law, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers. Dave Nolan and John Bell served as candlelighters.

A nephew of the groom, Todd Smith, was the ringbearer.

Mr. and Mrs. Brewer, parents of the groom, hosted a rehearsal dinner in their home.

Both young people graduated from Granite City High School and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The former Miss Fecurka was employed as a youth worker at the Madison County Detention Home in Edwardsville.

Her husband is employed as an instructor of physical science at Calhoun County High School, Hardin, Ill. They are now residing in Hamburg, Ill.

Pack 8 views Indian artifacts

Cub Pack 8 observed an Indian theme at its meeting last week at the First United Presbyterian Church.

In keeping with the Indian theme, Mrs. Pat Foote explained the word Uniwah, which means "place where happy people meet to work together." A selection of Indian songs was sung by Den Three led by Mrs. Sharon Sinde.

Den Two, directed by Mrs. Foote and Mrs. Irene Martin, displayed handmade shields inscribed with Indian signs. Each Cub Scout told what his shield sign meant. They also prepared an assimilation (tribal) game and demonstrated how it was played.

Webelos opened the meeting with a flag ceremony and Irl Pabst, assistant cubmaster, reviewed the pack rules and regulations. He also discussed the budget and a result of recent fund raising projects.

Pabst then presented membership cards to Mark Mathias, James Ellis, Terry Hilton and Mrs. Martin; a recruiter badge to Scott Foote; Webelos dinner cord to Mark Vanyo; a one-year pin to Tim Pabst; perfect attendance pins to Tim Pabst, Allen Pope, Chris Sinde, Eric Gunderson; and a Bobcat badge to James Ellis. Orville Martin, Webelos leader, awarded athlete badges to Scott Foote and Leonard Basso; and artist badges to Mark Vanyo, Mike Hand and David Wiser.

William Iseninger, curator at the Chokoma Mounds Museum, gave a slide presentation as a special program. Cub Scouts and parents formed a living circle and the boys recited the Cub Scout prayer to close the meeting.

Indian festival for Cub Pack 46

Indian Festival provided the meeting theme of Cub Pack 46 at Nameoki School, conducted last week by Ronald Coleman, pack committee chairman, in the absence of Cubmaster Jerry Poole.

Plans were completed for the pack Christmas party on Monday, beginning at 7:30 p.m. with a visit by Santa Claus. Cubs will participate in a gift exchange and bring canned goods for a holiday basket to be donated to the Salvation Army for distribution to an area family, it was reported.

The meeting opened with all cubs repeating the pledge of allegiance and a song led by Mrs. June Branding. Entertainment began with Den One cubs representing different Indian tribes and giving a resume of the tribal customs.

Den Two sang a selection of Indian songs, followed by Den Four demonstrating Indian skill games with handmade equipment.

The Indian way of life and today's living conditions were compared by Den Five cubs who also displayed totem poles they had carved and painted. A Wolf badge was given to Mike Farrell of Den Four and assistant den mother pins were presented to Mary Lou Schwab of Den Two and Glenda Ballew, Den Four.

Den Five was the recipient of the "cubby" award for having the most parents in attendance. A closing song was led by Mrs. Branding, and Den One served refreshments of doughnuts, soft drink and coffee.

MARRIED. Mrs. David J. Tiefenbrunn, the former Miss Pamela A. Biason, who was married in an afternoon ceremony at St. Joseph Catholic Church. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Biason, 2018 Bryan Ave.

Pamela Biason marries David J. Tiefenbrunn

St. Joseph Catholic Church was the scene of the wedding on Nov. 22 of Miss Pamela A. Biason, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Biason, 2018 Bryan Ave., and David J. Tiefenbrunn, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson B. Tiefenbrunn, 5012 Glennon Drive, St. Louis.

Father Henry Mack officiated at the double ring ceremony at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, before an altar adorned with burning tapers in branched candelabra festooned with greenery and white bows.

Nuptial selections, including "Love Story," "Romeo and Juliet" and "We Only Just Begun," were played by organist Mrs. Clea Judd.

For her wedding, the bride wore a long white jersey gown fashioned with a high neckline, shirred bodice and long tapered sleeves.

A self-plated waistline was accented with tiny Venise lace, etched with pearls. The decorative trim edged the detachable hood and long skirt which fell softly into a full sweep train.

She carried a nosegay of bridal pink roses, stephanotis and baby's breath. Matron of honor Mrs. Barbara Daech chose a long hot pink jersey dress designed with a crescent waistline, long tapered sleeves and complemented with a matching hood.

Her bouquet was an arrangement of pink roses and Elegance carnations, intermingled with baby's breath. The groom chose Tom Bujnak as his best man.

Mrs. Biason, mother of the bride, was attired in a floor-length beige and brown jersey gown. The groom's mother appeared in a long green gown of floral jersey. Both wore cymidium orchids.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The rehearsal dinner was hosted at Charlie's Restaurant.

A graduate of Granite City High School, the former Miss Biason is employed at Smith, Moore and Co., St. Louis. The groom was graduated from Northeast Missouri State University and works for Gusdorf and Sons, St. Louis. They are now residents of St. Louis.

Venice girl at 4-H Congress

Angelia Allen, Venice, is one of 40 Illinois 4-H'ers attending the 54th National 4-H Congress in Chicago, which began Sunday and will end today.

Miss Allen, daughter of Jeannette Allen, Lee Wright Homes, Venice, was named an Illinois winner in Achievement. Her award trip was sponsored by the Illinois 4-H Foundation.

About 1,600 delegates representing all 50 states, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico are attending the 1975 Congress, in addition to about 300 county, state, and federal Extension personnel;

250 representatives of donor organizations; and about 150 guests and international visitors.

The objectives of the Congress are to recognize accomplishments of 4-H members, to provide a forum for interaction and idea exchange among youth and adults and to encourage leaders of business, industry, agriculture, government, education, and public affairs to share in the development of youth.

Miss Allen, a 4-H member for five years has been involved with the Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program (EFNEP), sponsored by the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service. During the summer Miss Allen served as a teen leader by teaching other youth in her neighborhood good nutrition. Activities used to teach the nutrition information included day camps, group meetings and a special dairy promotion campaign.

By teaching others, Angelia has learned new skills and developed her leadership potential. Extension leaders said. The food preparation skills she learned helped her prepare more and better meals at home. For the last two years she has been the leader of a 4-H club in her own neighborhood.

The skills and confidence gained in her neighborhood prepared Angelia to participate in a Madison County food demonstration contest this last summer, leaders noted. At this county contest she was selected as one of the six Madison County food delegates to the Illinois State Fair.

Angelia currently is a junior at Madison High School where she is active in a number of school organizations plus being a cheerleader.

4-H Congress headquarters are at Chicago's Conrad Hilton Hotel where delegates have been honored at special banquets and entertained by professional groups. They also have toured points of interest in Chicago, visited the Art Institute and attended a "pop" concert.

Four-H is the youth phase of the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service.

New liquor law ordered

Liquor control regulations in Granite City will be updated in a revised ordinance that will be prepared as the result of City Council action Monday night.

Alderman Emerald Dawes of the Seventh Ward said he believed a new ordinance controlling operations of taverns and package liquor stores should be enacted to establish new limitations on such places.

Dawes said the present regulations are not being enforced. "We are supposed to be limited at 60 taverns and we have about 51 or 52, but we have eight or ten package liquor stores when we are limited to four," Dawes said.

Dawes suggested that a new set of rules establishing distances between taverns and liquor stores, and their proximity to churches and schools, be included in a new ordinance. A motion by Dawes that a new ordinance be brought to the council was given a second by Alderman Warren Decatur of the Fourth Ward.

Mayor Paul Schuler told the aldermen, however, that a new ordinance has been under consideration.

City Attorney George Filcoff said that any ordinance regulating taverns and liquor stores must be based on "good reasons" and not arbitrary limits.

On a roll call vote, the motion to bring in a new ordinance was approved 8 to 3. Voting against it were Aldermen Sam Whitmer, Clyde Boyd and Frank Greenwald.

Howlett ready to start photo license program

Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett announced this week that his office can now begin the first phase of implementing the photo drivers license program in Illinois.

Work on the program was delayed because the $1.2 million appropriation approved by the General Assembly this spring was the subject of an amendment veto.

The legislature concurred in the amendment veto during its fall session, and funds to begin the project will be freed as soon as the governor certifies the bill (H.B. 2264).

Howlett said a reduction in the original appropriation request will require the program to be completed in two phases, and actual issuance of photo driver licenses may not be possible until calendar year 1977.

"I want to provide photo drivers licenses for the people of Illinois as quickly as possible," Howlett said.

"But we cannot compromise the integrity of our data systems by developing a less than ideal program on a hurried basis with limited funds."

"The program requires more than merely photographing drivers. It also requires a state-wide network of computer terminals linking Driver Service Facilities throughout Illinois with the central computer in Springfield."

"This will permit immediate verification and updating of a driver's eligibility and record—which are requisites for the instant issuance of photo drivers licenses."

Howlett said installation of the computer network will constitute phase one of the program, and that additional funds to complete the second phase will be sought when the General Assembly convenes in January for the fiscal 1977 budget session.

Originally, the Illinois House approved $3,025,000 from the general revenue fund for the program, but the appropriation was reduced to $1,225,000 in the Senate. The House later concurred with the reduction.

On Aug. 15, the governor used his amendatory veto to transfer the appropriation from the general revenue fund to the road fund.

Skate School to start at GC rink

A new Skate School will start Saturday at Wilson Park rink for beginners through the Freestyle II level, it was announced today.

Advance registrations will be accepted tonight and Friday evening at the rink, or prior to the sessions on Saturday morning.

Cost of the six-week instruction program is $3 for residents and $6 for non-residents.

Classes will be held from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. and from 11:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. each Saturday through Jan. 17. A total of 80 to 90 pupils can be instructed in the different levels per hour.

Outlook for Scotland flu in state

By MARY RICHARDS
Illinois Department of Public Health
"How did you get the flu?"
"I just opened the window, and in flew—enza!"
This old joke has probably been around as long as flu has,
but even today it illustrates, with good humor, how easy it is to catch the "flu bug."
Chances are that, before the winter is over, you or someone you know will have the flu.
State public health officials anticipate the possibility of flu caused by one or more of several types of influenza virus in Illinois this winter, including Port Chalmers, Scotland and Hong Kong strains.

Hong Kong flu, a Type B strain, has been around for several years now, and there was some Port Chalmers flu reported in Illinois last winter.
The Scotland strain, however, hasn't been seen in Illinois before. Like Port Chalmers, Scotland flu is a Type A strain which is more likely to cause community outbreaks than is the Type B.

Symptoms of Type A flu include: sudden onset of fever with shaking chills; headache, which may be generalized or behind the eyes; an "ache-all-over" feeling, including "low backache."
Loss of appetite and nausea are also common symptoms, but vomiting is not typical.
Runny nose, sneezing, coughing and a dry or somewhat sore throat are other common symptoms.
According to state health officials, the only "cure" is bedrest, aspirin to relieve the aches and pains and plenty of fluids.

Health officials also advise that flu shots are not necessary for those who are under 65 and in good health.
When people under 65 who are otherwise in good health contract the flu, the illness is generally short-lived. In a week or so, health is restored in uncomplicated cases.
But, persons over 65 — or persons who have chronic diseases, especially diabetes or diseases which affect the heart, lung or kidney — are more susceptible to flu, and more likely to develop serious complications from it.

These persons are referred to as "high-risk" by health officials and, in order to maintain the highest possible level of protection against flu, those in these "high-risk" groups should probably have flu shots every year.
Another thing to remember about flu is that antibiotics, such as penicillin, will not cure
the illness.
Antibiotics may be of use, however, in treating secondary infections which occasionally accompany influenza infections.

So, if you're under 65 and in good health, you probably don't need a flu shot. If the flu strikes you, remember the bedrest, aspirin and fluid prescription.
With these "aids," your own healthy body will do an effective job of fighting off the virus.
Those who want more information about flu may write to:
Illinois Department of Public Health, Division of Disease Control, 535 W. Jefferson St., Springfield, Ill. 62761.

67 in 'Who's Who' of high school students

Sixty-seven students from the Granite City area have been selected for the ninth annual edition of "Who's Who Among American High School Students."
"Who's Who" is the largest high school recognition program in the country.
Students are nominated for the book by high school principals and guidance counselors, national youth groups and churches, or by the publishing company, based on students' performance in scholarship or award contests.
Final selection is determined on the basis of criteria which include high achievement in academics and leadership in school activities, athletics and community service.
The ninth edition of "Who's Who," published in four regional volumes, features 235,000 students, or less than four percent of the nation's 6,500,000 high school juniors and seniors. They represent 20,000 of the 24,000 public, private and parochial schools in the country.
"Who's Who" students compete for over $25,000 in scholarship awards and participate in the publication's annual opinion poll of teen attitudes. The book is distributed on a complimentary basis to participating high schools, colleges and universities and public libraries.
Granite Cityans selected for this year's volume are:

Charles Love in Army exercises

Army Private First Class Charles E. Love, whose wife Stephanie, lives at 1623 Calhoun St., Venice, has participated in Exercise Reforger in Germany.

Pfc. Love is regularly assigned to Battery A, 1st Battalion of the 1st Infantry Division's 5th Field Artillery at Fort Riley, Kan.

The purpose of the annual exercise was to sharpen techniques for receiving, equipping, assembling, and deploying dual-based units.

This year the exercise was incorporated in a broader, coordinated series of NATO and national exercises known as the "Autumn Forge 75 Exercise Series." The objective of the series was to improve the capability of NATO forces.

The U.S. Air Force Military Airlift Command flew approximately 10,000 U.S. based soldiers and their equipment to Germany to participate in the exercise.

Private Love entered the Army in 1974 and completed basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

PROFILE Callahan offers a new image

By JOAN MURARO
SPRINGFIELD — "Let's face it, things look bad now, but they could get even worse..." That "needn't necessarily be construed" as a veiled warning of pending volume layoffs from the Secretary of State's payroll, according to Edward Callahan, new Illinois deputy secretary of state.

But... "I hope every employee is doing his job, carrying his share, because we can't afford any dead weight. We're going to have to continue with the policy already developed in this office, of getting more work done with fewer people and at less expense."

(Since Callahan made the statement in an interview, it has been announced that more than 20 employees in the personnel section of the secretary's office have been dismissed, for "budgetary" reasons.)

Even so, Callahan stressed the need for efficiency and economy while not committing himself to predictions on firings in the various branches of the secretary's office where Secretary of State Michael Howlett consistently has been reducing the work force since he took over in January, 1973. So far, the payroll has been reduced by more than 400 at an estimated savings of well over $7 million.

Callahan's obvious talent for nimble verbal broken-field running probably underscores why the former coach-educator - principal - administrator caught the attention of Howlett when the two met socially several years ago. He gives every indication of being just what he says he is — a man who prefers to persuade rather than to push, who thinks things often are best accomplished just by moving "something which isn't needed over here to a spot where it's badly needed, over there," and who is confident that the basic problems he'll encounter in his new role won't be much different from the problems he had to handle dealing with teachers and students in Rockford area Catholic schools.

Though he holds a public office under one of the most popular political figures in Illinois, politics is one area where the multi-talented Callahan has had little or no experience.

"The secretary didn't ask me if I'm a registered Democrat or Republican, or anything about politics," he said. "He asked if I thought I'd be interested in entering state government service."

He was. One reason, he said: "I wanted to see if I could do it."

If he can't, it will be a decided change of pace for Callahan.

Entering education because he wanted to be an athletic coach, he started coaching in 1950, moved to Rockford in 1960, two years later was principal of the new Boylan High School he had joined on arrival there. He was the first lay person named by the Rockford bishop to the diocesan advisory board, became superintendent of the Rockford area Catholic schools which included two high schools and 10 grade schools and served as president of the Catholic Principals Association of Illinois.

Along the way, he also changed his mind about government aid to parochial schools.

He's now convinced, he says, that Catholic schools are better off without it.

"When schools find out they really aren't going to get any outside help, they have to hitch up their belts and get to work and solve their own problems, and they do. I'm convinced the only hope for this country by the year 2000 is quality education, which means education which offers you a choice, and you can't have a choice if all the schools basically are being funded by tax dollars."

Callahan is convinced that despite threats to the contrary, the Catholic school system will remain flourishing in Illinois.

In Rockford, he not only had to establish an athletic program at the Boylan school but had to find the money for it. That was his first administrative experience on a large scale, he feels.

EDWARD CALLAHAN, Deputy Illinois secretary of state, stresses, "We can't afford any dead weight."

Price lists savings by Air Force move to Scott

Cong. Melvin Price (D, 23rd Ill.) Wednesday released the results of the comptroller general's report showing favorable cost-savings benefits on the planned move of the Air Force Communications Service from Richards-Gebaur Air Force Base to the Military Airfield Command, Scott Air Force Base.

Annual recurring savings from the move will be approximately $6.47 million, Cong. Price said, plus the cancellation or deferral of $5.81 million in construction projects at Richards-Gebaur. One-time costs of about $11.62 million were also reported by the Government Accounting Office.

Cong. Price explained that the annual savings would come from reduced operating costs at Richards-Gebaur and reduced manpower requirements. Additionally, a $3.8 million alteration of the Richards-Gebaur medical facility will be cancelled, should the Scott move become official.

One-time costs include such items as compensation for former employees, improvements to property at Scott in preparation for an increased military and civilian population, and federal funding for school districts in the Richards-Gebaur area which suffer a significant decrease in enrollment.

Cong. Price stated that the new report from the comptroller general and the Government Accounting Office differ slightly from that previously prepared by the Department of the Air Force, in light of new costs and department manpower authorizations. The Air Force currently estimates that the environmental impact statement required before a final decision on the move can be made will be ready by March of next year.

Cong. Price described the report as "underscoring the validity of the transfer and the factors on which the proposed action is based."

Yule gifts this year include Bicentennial replicas

By FRANK MACOMBER
If you have more Christmas spirit than money, the name of the Yuletide game is "shop around." This Dec. 25 could be a budget-buster for a lot of American families, but it doesn't necessarily have to be for the wise shopper.

Attracting gifts at prices even you can afford. You don't have to break the bank to make a few folks merry at Christmas time. Here, for example, is a mattering of gift ideas well within the pocketbook power of most people.

Today most of us have more leisure and less money to spend on recreation. So a lot of folks are pursuing new hobbies, games and crafts, rediscovering how much fun an evening at home with the family really can be.

New from Whitman's Game Testing Laboratory, for instance, is Hock Shop. It sells for about $5 and is designed for from two to four players—adults and children beyond the age of 10.

Players compete for a ring, fur coat, violin, candlesticks, a watch and a camera. Just as there is at the corner book shop in the real world, there's risk involved. Players must watch out for stolen property, gamble on being able to pay the pawnbroker and know what to buy and hock—and when.

There's blackjack, poker, dice shooting, roulette, even slot machines. The object of Casino Vegas is to win the most money during an agreed time limit or dollar goal. Usually it's one hour or $50,000, whichever comes first.

For the younger set, Skill-Craft's Ceramic Collectibles has expanded to Paintables as well this year. These are pre-cast bisque figurines fashioned after costly collectors' porcelain and replicas of Mickey Mouse and his pal, Donald Duck, Mouseketeers of an earlier generation and today's crop might find the Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck Paintable Kit a lot of fun for less than $1.

The creativity for Moppetville comes in painting the figures. It's simple enough for young children yet can hold the interest of adults and teenagers who want to capture the look of costly collectors' porcelain.

This Christmas is certain to focus on our American forefathers as the nation begins to celebrate its Centennial only a week later. So gifts relating to early colonial times will be appropriate.

One of these is the Colonial Collector's Series, reproductions of early American tankards and plates from Skill-Craft. The four sets (under $11 each) feature hand-cast metal alloy replicas of tankards or plates like the pewter were formed by village artists in early America.

These rough pieces must be sanded, polished and antiqued to give them the satin luster of pewter. It's a task for ages 12 and older. The series includes: 1776 Drummer Boy engraved plate; two tankards embossed with The Great Seal of the United States of America; and two Picture Plates featuring full-color reproductions of scenes representing the Spirit of '76 and Betsy Ross.

There are odds more of such reasonably-priced gifts if you just shop around. So toss out that idea that Christmas and bankruptcy court go hand in hand and somehow are in cahoots to bring you down.

February deadline on auto race track noise

SPRINGFIELD — Citing "insufficient technical and economic data and significant citizen objection" as its reason, the Pollution Control Board has struck one proposed amendment regarding auto racing noise, extended the compliance date on another and received a new proposal requiring all race cars to be equipped with mufflers, if they can be safely.

Dismissed by the board was a regulation proposed as an amendment to the motor vehicle noise regulations, which exempted auto race tracks from meeting the decibel limits between 7 a.m. and 10:30 p.m. If adopted, the ruling would have become effective last Aug. 10.

While dismissing that proposal, the board also extended to next Feb. 10 the date for complying with existing regulations regarding the amount of noise generated by an auto race track, as measured at the property line of the nearest residential site or other property where the noise might be a nuisance.

Meanwhile, the noise pollution control section of the state Environmental Protection Agency has filed with the PCB a new regulation for consideration. This one, according to William Seltzer, head of enforcement services for the section, would require that all race cars would have to be equipped with mufflers, save for those like supercharged cars and some of the big dragsters known as "funny cars," which might blow up if so equipped.

At the end of a certain period, such as one racing season, average noise level readings then could be reached for each track, and these limits then would apply in the future.

As with any other proposal presented to the PCB, public hearings will be held, but in this case, for the first time under a newly adopted Illinois law, the Institute for Environmental Quality also will submit to the board an economic impact statement of the effect of the proposed regulation, if adopted.

In the past, a great deal of noise was generated by racing fans, track operators and drivers over any attempt to muffle the noise generated by auto races.

Organizations and racing fan clubs maintained the attempts were unfair since no regulations were proposed for such events as football and baseball games.

One fan, in what has become a classic statement among those involved, was quoted as objecting that "auto racing without noise is like dancing without music."

The PCB has concluded

public hearings on other aspects of the motor vehicle noise regulations, and the final date for submitting additional written comments to the board about the proposed regulations has passed.

The board has indicated it will consider comments offered by the public at the hearings, and the last-minute written views before finally adopting a regulation.

Chiefly, the proposed final draft changes involve defining certain categories of vehicles, specifying exemptions, and sections on horns, warning devices and tire noise and a rule limiting the fine on a first offense by an individual to $20.

The training programs have been designed to staff the hospitals with capable African nurses. The "B" furnace has been idle since May 15 when it was shut down for relining and renovation. In addition to placing a new lining of thick, refractory bricks inside, improvements included a new automatic system for charging raw materials into the furnace and improvements in the gas-cleaning system.

With the restarting of the "B" furnace, both 18-story tall blast furnaces here will be producing pig iron from iron ore, which will lead to higher production throughout the Granite City Steel facilities, it was announced.

There had been doubts whether the "B" furnace would be returned immediately to operation due to an unusually low demand for steel during 1975. Granite City Steel had been able to meet orders for its flat-rolled steel products with only one blast furnace in production since May.

Pearl Harbor

men were shocked into complete immobility, he recalled in a talk to the Granite City Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon Tuesday at the YMCA.

Most of the servicemen responded with valor and dedication despite witnessing the tragedy of thousands losing their lives in exploding ships and in waters covered with burning oil, he related.

Distant explosions and the arrival of a Zero plane had heralded the enemy attack, and immense confusion and suffering quickly engulfed those aboard the Navy ships, the club was told.

With only six available to operate his eight-man gun, Blankenship found it necessary to let casings accumulate on the deck during the firing. It was impossible to prop up the fuse on some of the five-pound ammunition due to the shortage of men.

Prior to the sudden beginning of the war, duty at Pearl Harbor was regarded by many Navy men as boring. However then, as now, was beautiful but it still retained many native traditions, he said; typical home leaves might include beer drinking, a visit to a dance hall or shopping for souvenirs.

Entering the Navy at age 17, Blankenship went with the U.S.S. Tennessee when it and other vessels were transferred from Long Beach, Calif., to Hawaii in 1941.

He has been with A. O. Smith for 24 years and has been here since 1954.

Active in the YMCA, Chamber of Commerce and St. Elizabeth Hospital advisory board, Blankenship was elected last year as general chairman of the Industrial Section, Executive Committee, National Safety Council.

He was introduced by Rotary President Bill H. Terrell. Robert Maxwell and George Schaefer were announced as prospective members.

It was noted that Rotary bell-ringers raised $49 for the Tree of Life campaign during the weekend.

Scoville re-elected levee board president

Jack Scoville of National City was re-elected president of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District board Wednesday in a meeting in which an East St. Louis member of the levee board grabbed and choked Scoville in a disagreement over an economy issue.

The attack was made by Charles Meyers, a Negro member of the board, as Scoville presented a report by the district's chief engineer, Thomas Farrell, urging replacement of nine employees with an electric alarm system.

Meyers charged that Scoville and other board members, William "Mike" Ebersoldt of Belleville, were attempting to abolish security guard jobs because they are held by whites.

Meyers continued to object as Scoville tried to read the report and several times called Scoville "a liar, a joker and a chump," Scoville told Meyers to "sit down and shut up."

Meyers, standing next to Scoville, grabbed Scoville by the throat. Scoville stood up as several nearby employees rushed to pull Meyers away from the board president.

Later in the meeting Meyers offered an apology and Scoville said it was accepted.

As chairman for the 1976 year, Scoville reapointed all levee district department heads, including Mrs. Helen Christich of Granite City as chief clerk; Farrell as chief engineer and James Spanos as maintenance superintendent.

Harry Hartman, Granite City attorney, was named chief attorney. Also reapointed were William Wessden of Belleville, William Starnes of Belleville and Robert Godfrey</

'Slim Talk' class starts in January

A new concept in a weight loss program will be introduced in the Quad-Cities at noon, Wednesday, Jan. 7, at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 2052 Edison Ave. The program is Slim Talk.

Called a philosophy by its founder and director, Jane Elliott of East Alton, Slim Talk encourages each individual to develop a personal philosophy of improved self-image and self-help to attain or maintain the image he or she desires.

The concept endeavors to create in each person a sophisticated decision-making process to end the depressing weight gain-loss-gain syndrome and enjoy permanent weight loss, Mrs. Elliott said.

The director noted that a popular magazine recently reported a public record of 17,290 ways of losing weight, most of which don't work, the authors reported.

"These figures are no real surprise to most obese people," Mrs. Elliott said. "Most of us can testify to the failure of 17,290 ways personally."

"It is my sincere hope that one has truly tried many methods in the past, then you will appreciate the value of Slim Talk even more," the director stated.

Before embarking on the Slim Talk regimen participants are urged to consult with his or her physician for approval.

Several daily recommendations are made in the program, including regular eating habits, avoidance of specific foods and inclusion of others for a balanced diet.

A book authored by Mrs. Elliott contains recipes, menus and information concerning her program.

An emotional, even dramatic tug of war ensues the moment we think of dieting, Mrs. Elliott said. Yet, dieting should mean to us a way of life. A diet can make one fat and also make one lose those unwanted pounds.

The difference lies solely in the interpretation of the word "diet," she stressed.

"We don't think off weight any more than we can wave a magic wand and expect to become suddenly slim. However, when our words, thoughts and actions synchronize, something happens," the director said.

"Something beautiful begins to happen the day we believe it really can happen to us. There is that magic within (each person) that suddenly says 'I can do this,'" Mrs. Elliott stressed.

The classes at the Knights of Columbus here will last about one hour.

The instructor will be Mrs. Norma Flaher. She may be reached for information by writing: Norma Flaher, 1401 Rodger Ave., Alton, Ill. 62002, or by calling 1-462-0641.

MR. AND MRS. ALEX McGEHEE. They were united in marriage at St. Mark's Roman Catholic Church in Venice. The bride is the former Susan Marie Wells, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Wells, 625 Jefferson St., Venice.

McGehee-Wells nuptials at St. Mark's Church

Pink and white floral arrangements adorned the altar of St. Mark's Roman Catholic Church, Venice, for the wedding on Nov. 21 of Miss Susan Marie Wells and Alex McGehee.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Wells, 625 Jefferson St., Venice. The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McGehee, reside at 633 Lincoln Ave., Venice.

Father John O'Connell performed the double ring ceremony at 7 o'clock in the evening.

Organist Miss Sheila Andrews played "We've Only Just Begun," "On This Day," "Ave Maria," and "Colour My World." Lois Boyd, a sister of the bride, sang the latter two selections. Miss Kathy Stauder played the guitar and sang "If We Only Have Love."

For her wedding, the bride chose an empire style gown with a high lace collar, long sheer sleeves and a semi-full skirt, encircled with a ruffled flounce.

She wore a lace-bordered mantilla veil and held a nosegay of red and pink roses, pink carnations, white mums and baby's breath.

Maid of honor Miss Rita Huchel was attired in a long pink dress, featuring a maroon velvet collar and cuffs and a V-neckline. She wore a wide brimmed hat accented with maroon velvet ribbon and carried a floral arrangement similar to the bridal bouquet.

Gary Balton served as best man, with Kent Bosworth and Kent Boelling as ushers.

A reception was held in the church hall after the ceremony. The couple is now residing in Venice following a wedding trip to Tan-Tar-A.

A graduate of Althoff Catholic High School, the former Miss Wells is attending Belleville Area College and is a piano instructor at the National School of Music. She also works at the Venice Public Library.

The groom graduated from Venice High School and is employed at Reilly Tar and Chemical Co.

Also assisting at the ceremony were Christine Allison and Joe Boyd, a niece and nephew of the bride.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought To You By Milton Mathews

Do you have any idea who was the biggest man ever to play pro football?

... Answer is Les Bingham who played for the Detroit Lions from 1948 through 1954 ...

He set the pro football record in 1954 when he weighed in at 349 pounds.

Did you know that you could have bought a National Football League franchise for $501 ... In 1922 several NFL teams were purchased for $50, and in 1925, a man bought the Detroit team for just $50.

Can you imagine a football player scoring 100 points himself in one football game? ... Did you know that such a feat was once accomplished?

... Back in 1916, Leo Schlick of St. Viator College in Indiana scored 100 points against Lane College ... Schlick had 12 touchdowns and kicked 28 extra points in that game, which his team won 205-0 ... By the way, scores that high were not unheard of in 1916 ... That same season, Georgia Tech, for example, beat Cumberland 222-0.

I bet you didn't know ... Mathews Chevrolet wants your business.

Fire trustees raise pay

Long Lake Fire Protection District trustees last night approved an increase in the pay for trustees from $200 per year to $500 annually.

Board President Harold Davis explained the state law was changed to allow fire district trustees to be paid up to $750 per year, but the three trustees of the Long Lake district felt $500 would be an appropriate salary.

Davis said an increase is in line with the additional workload the new trustees have accepted with projects initiated under the new Community Development Grant program, the federal revenue sharing program and other grants and aid.

which the residents were paying for and one in Quiet Valley which no one was paying for and was about to be removed.

"We presently are completing the work necessary to receive funds for a new rescue truck and rescue equipment. That will be purchased with a combination of Community Development and federal revenue sharing monies, at no direct cost to the taxpayers."

"We felt $500 each is a fair figure for a whole year of the kind of work we are doing," Davis concluded.

The board voted to approve a $1,700 check for the fire department as partial payment on the $49,000 contract the department has this year with the fire protection district.

Also approved was a $215 payment to R. C. Sheffield, certified public accountants, for completing the annual audit of the district's books. The report recommended only minor bookkeeping changes.

Payment of $90 to continue a subscription and membership to Illinois Fire Protection News also was approved.

Airport hearing plans outlined

By WILLIAM T. COLEMAN JR.
U.S. Secretary of Transportation

As the secretary of Transportation, I will be deciding whether an application under the Airport and Airway Development Act should be approved for a federal grant for acquisition of a site in Columbia-Waterloo, Ill., for an airport to serve the St. Louis metropolitan area.

Commitment of Federal funds for site acquisition would be the first in a series of steps toward development of a major air carrier airport at this location.

This decision is highly controversial and has been under consideration for many years. An extensive record has been compiled and numerous recommendations have been made.

In particular, the argument is made that the existing Lambert-St. Louis International Airport can be modified to serve air carrier airport needs of the St. Louis area for the foreseeable future, or that another site in Missouri would be preferable to Columbia-Waterloo.

The Department of Transportation (DOT) had hoped that agreement would be reached in the St. Louis region on a new or upgraded airport.

When this did not occur, the department studied carefully and at length all of the proposals which have been suggested.

I now plan to complete my review of the matter and make a decision shortly on the request for a grant for land acquisition at Columbia-Waterloo.

There have been prior opportunities for public and official participation in this decision.

However, in order to permit a final opportunity for interested elected public officials and representatives of cities, public interest and industry organizations to express their views, I will hold a public hearing on the question.

The hearing will be conducted in a manner comparable to a Congressional hearing. It will be held on Thursday, Dec. 18, at a location in St. Louis to be announced. The tentative agenda is:

10 a.m. to 11 a.m. - Elected officials who favor approval of land acquisition for an airport at Columbia-Waterloo.

11 a.m. to 12 noon - Representatives of civic public interest and industry groups who favor expansion of Lambert-St. Louis International Airport or development of an alternative Missouri site.

2 p.m. to 3 p.m. - Elected officials who favor expansion of Lambert-St. Louis International Airport or development of an alternative Missouri site.

3 p.m. to 4 p.m. - Representatives of civic public interest and industry groups who favor expansion of Lambert-St. Louis International Airport or development of an alternative Missouri site.

Participants will be permitted a maximum of ten minutes for each presentation. Those of the same point of view are urged to combine their presentations. Written copies of presentations will be helpful, but are not required.

Additionally, written presentations by any interested persons, including those who may not have sufficient time to express their full views at the hearing, may be submitted directly to me (address: Secretary of Transportation, Washington, D.C. 20590 and indicate "St. Louis Airport" on the envelope) before Dec. 30.

The DOT is preparing a current summary of information on the major issues involved in this decision.

That summary will be given to public officials and other interested parties and made available in public libraries and elsewhere in the St. Louis area about two weeks before the hearing.

I encourage persons who wish to speak at the hearing to review that summary, and to address their remarks to the issues identified in it.

I recognize that some persons may wish to take positions which are not completely in favor of or opposed to land acquisition at Columbia-Waterloo, and I would also take comments with respect to such positions.

In order to facilitate the scheduling of speakers and assure equity in the assignment of the available time, however, persons requesting to speak should place themselves in either the "pro" or "con" category, whichever is closest to their position.

Ability to communicate is a key goal of schools

Twenty-one goals articulating the state's official educational philosophy and charting its direction have been adopted by the State Board of Education.

Divided into learner goals, enabling goals and service goals, they represent the top priority issues identified during a seven-month process of input by state board members, Illinois Office of Education staff, local educators and the general public. Copies of the goals statement will be distributed to educational agencies throughout the state.

In adopting the nine-page statement, the board directed that it serve as the basic document to which the state education agency should relate its budget requests, legislative proposals and general work plans.

Fundamental to the goals, according to the document, is the belief that "society and all who learn must be provided with a high-quality educational system."

Also basic to the overall statement of priorities is the partnership between the state education board and local-level school boards.

The 21 goals, according to the state board, "are those which will be ideally achieved only through shared problem-solving with school boards."

"The state board's goals are not intended to circumvent decision-making of school boards, but rather to provide assistance in insuring that the educational needs of all students within the state are met."

The 21 goals are:

—Reading and literacy. Assure that students are able to read and communicate effectively and provide right-to-read programs for all citizens.

—Bilingual-bicultural education. Schools should offer quality programs to students for whom English is a second language.

—Adult education. Communities are encouraged to provide experiences that emphasize "survival" skills of reading and literacy and to offer easy access to other programs, especially in consumer skills and vocational and technical education.

—Vocational education. School systems should provide vocational counseling and training to all who can benefit by it.

—Career education. Children should be prepared for the world of work through career awareness, exploration and orientation programs. All types of occupations should be shown as having an important place in today's world.

—Exceptional students. Sufficient challenges should be offered for gifted children and adequate safeguards provided for handicapped students. Efforts should continue to locate and serve students not presently being served.

—Educational alternatives. The board invites community and professional involvement in planning for alternative means of educating youngsters.

—Dropout-truancy. The state should assist local school districts by finding new ways to respond to the needs of students.

—Student rights. Students should have those rights based on the U.S. Constitution and should be given the opportunity to learn about the rule of law and responsibilities to humanity, the state and the community.

—Health and safety. Standards for comprehensive health services should be created and appropriate modification of guidelines for school construction should be sought.

—Finance. Support must be high enough so all students have the opportunity to develop their abilities to the fullest. The state should equalize resources between rich and poor communities, and local districts should strive to improve management of the educational dollar.

—Teacher education-certification. High standards shall be pursued through rigorous and appropriate programs of screening, preparation and licensing.

—Employer-employee relations. The board and state superintendent should have written policies on employment matters.

—Desegregation. Federal and state regulations shall be implemented to meet the mandated responsibility to eliminate racial segregation in public schools. The State Board of Education shall do so in an affirmative manner designed to reduce the likelihood of litigation and community disruption.

—Relationships and communication. The state board, in order to determine policies and directions for education in Illinois and to stay alert to public needs, shall set hearings, use questionnaires and create other ways of determining educational needs.

The 21 goals are:

—Bilingual-bicultural education. Schools should offer quality programs to students for whom English is a second language.

—Vocational education. School systems should provide vocational counseling and training to all who can benefit by it.

—Career education. Children should be prepared for the world of work through career awareness, exploration and orientation programs. All types of occupations should be shown as having an important place in today's world.

—Educational alternatives. The board invites community and professional involvement in planning for alternative means of educating youngsters.

—Dropout-truancy. The state should assist local school districts by finding new ways to respond to the needs of students.

—Health and safety. Standards for comprehensive health services should be created and appropriate modification of guidelines for school construction should be sought.

—Finance. Support must be high enough so all students have the opportunity to develop their abilities to the fullest. The state should equalize resources between rich and poor communities, and local districts should strive to improve management of the educational dollar.

—Teacher education-certification. High standards shall be pursued through rigorous and appropriate programs of screening, preparation and licensing.

CONSTRUCTION TRAINING. President John S. Rendleman of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, addresses a luncheon which preceded groundbreaking ceremonies for the Whiteside Southwest Connector Training Roadway project on campus. "This is a proud moment in the history of the University. I want you to know how happy we are that we are in a position to serve as a suitable site for this excellent program," he said. Others at the speakers' table include: Ervin Taylor (left), business agent of Local Union 520, International Union of Operating Engineers; and Reese Hammond, Washington, D.C., director of research and education for the IUOE, and Leo Bachinski, St. Louis, second vice-president of the IUOE.

Work begins on SIUE roadway

Construction work is under way on a mile of new campus road at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, following groundbreaking ceremonies which dedicated the project as a training program for Local Union 520 of the International Union of Operating Engineers (IUOE). Officially known as the Whiteside Southwest Connector Training Roadway, the new road will connect Circle Drive and Bluff Road on land which was homesteaded by William B. Whiteside before 1800. The University has used a narrow farm lane across the property since it was acquired in 1965. The training program is under the direction of the area Joint Apprenticeship and Training Committee (JATC), with representation from the IUOE, Southern Illinois Builders Association (SIBA) and Southern Illinois Contractors Association (SICA). Members of these groups, as well as representatives of state and federal agencies, legislators, area dignitaries and University administrators, attended the groundbreaking ceremonies and took helicopter and ground tours of the campus. Speaking for the University community, President John S. Rendleman said, "This is a proud moment in the history of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. I want you to know how happy we are that we are in a position to serve as a suitable site for this excellent program."

fact that we have so many distinguished people here today is ample evidence of the success that can be achieved when private industry, labor, government and education get together. Everyone benefits, and that is as it should be." Keynote speaker for the occasion was Reese Hammond of Washington, D.C., director of research and education for the IUOE. "The story of the apprenticeship and training program is a proud and happy one," Hammond said. "It is a dramatic instance of the way the great American system can work when labor and industry join hands with the cooperation of government and education. But we have to work at the system if we expect the system to work for us."

Hammond said he has had problems in dealing with higher education in the past, and he said he is looking forward to this opportunity for achievement and progress in vocational training on the University campus. The IUOE director said his union emphasizes "a system of total training in striving for confidence, pride, responsibility and quality of craftsmanship." He added that the program is for "every person, regardless of race or background."

Leo Bachinski of St. Louis, second vice-president of the IUOE, pointed out that the objectives of the program are to create job opportunities, upgrade skills of union members and train members of minority groups. Funding comes from a variety of sources, including the Manpower Development Training Act and the Comprehensive Employment Training Act. The 24-foot roadway on the University campus will conform to Illinois Department of Transportation specifications, with District Eight personnel providing design and engineering assistance. Special recognition was given at the groundbreaking ceremonies to Albert Dave Downs, Jr., coordinator and administrator of the project for Local 520. The project is the third training program involving SIUE property since the program was initiated by Local 520 three years ago. More than 300 persons have participated in the programs in the three-year period. Others who spoke at the ceremonies included: Ervin Taylor, business agent for Local 520; Leonard Boyer, representing SIBA; Michael P. Keeley Jr., representing SICA; Jake Galtier, director of civil rights for the Federal Highway Administration; Harold Monrosey, district highway engineer; Donald Johnson, director of the Illinois Department of Labor; Russell Adams, special assistant to the regional director of labor; and B. D. Huggins, SIUE vice-president for business affairs.

Three cans of food or $1.50 will admit students from Granite City High Schools North and South to a dance in the North cafeteria on Friday, Dec. 12, from 7:30 p.m. until 11 p.m. Two cans of food and 75 cents, or $1.50 in cash, will admit students to a dance on Saturday, Dec. 20, in the South cafeteria, also beginning at 7:30 p.m. Student identification cards are required at the dances. The students at both schools are earning money and collecting food to help needy families in Granite City have a happier Christmas, according to Student Council spokesmen. At South the students are asked to bring a cash donation to their home rooms and the money will be used to fill 50 Christmas baskets. At South students are collecting canned goods only at the dance. The home room collecting the most money at South will receive two one-hour lunch periods instead of the normal 30 minutes and all home rooms at South collecting $20 or more will be given one hour lunch period. North students are being asked to bring either canned goods or money to their home

Regular Democrats' slate includes respected officials; governor competition in March in both Illinois parties

While the practice of statewide party slating can be faulted from some standpoints, it is good to see that the Illinois Democratic Central Committee has included candidates of considerable merit in the list it endorsed Monday evening.

Because Governor Daniel Walker has built his political apparatus largely outside the regular party organization, a primary race is assured, giving Democrats a clear choice between two major aspirants for the governor nomination. Republicans also have a lively two-way gubernatorial race. A two-year term is to be filed, followed by regular four-year terms.

Since national political tides sometimes affect the outcome of state elections, it is impossible at this point to view with any certainty the outcome of the November 1976 balloting. But if the voters of each party choose candidates of high ability in March, the state will be assured of having good officials.

Many regular Democrats want so intensely to defeat the incumbent governor that they pushed hard for a new candidate, but the party was unable to find one in the primary and general election — Secretary of State Michael Howlett of Chicago.

He has won consistently in years that were good and sometimes bad for other Democratic candidates. He earned the auditor of public accounts office on three different occasions before being elected to his present position in 1972, and has generally received high marks for eficiency and cost-cutting.

State Treasurer Alan Dixon of Belleville, a relatively young but veteran public servant, won the treasurer office by a record statewide margin and appeared to have a good chance of beating Gov. Walker in the primary. But in the interest of party harmony, he stepped aside for Howlett and instead will seek Secretary Howlett's present office.

The secretary of state position in Illinois includes vastly more responsibilities than is the case in many states. If elected, Mr. Dixon will have an opportunity to continue the reform trend initiated in the past several years and also is likely to add markedly to his already strong role in Illinois political matters.

Mr. Dixon's Downstate residence perhaps provides the kind of balance to offset the slating of Chicagoans for both governor and lieutenant governor. Young Lt. Gov. Neil F. Hartigan, denied the backing he wanted for secretary of state but "slated" for a second term in his current post, may be able to bid strongly for governor in 1978 or 1982.

Others slated this week were Senate President Cecil Partridge for attorney general and former State Instruction Superintendent Michael Bakalis for state comptroller. State Senator Sam Vadalabene of the Communist and underdeveloped majority in the UN. The UN actions are another indignity tossed on a heap of indignities and a matter that we cannot ignore.

The United States must consider striking back immediately with the numerous means at its command — economic, diplomatic and persuasive.

Most assuredly it is not a time for Mr. Moynihan to resign or be forced out of his job.

If Mr. Moynihan leaves at this time under any circumstances it will be construed as a sign of U.S. weakness.

Strength and integrity must continue to guide U.S. actions in the United Nations in the critical days ahead.

This year, now unused, they are unattractive and add nothing to the appearance or usefulness of their block in Downtown Granite City.

By converting the two properties to a metered parking lot, the city government can strengthen the downtown commercial district and improve parking convenience.

End of food stamp abuses urged

By CONGRESSMAN

PAUL SIMON

24th Illinois District

Any good thing can be abused.

Religion is good, but some religious fanatics let snakes bite them.

Education is good, but it has also been used to develop nuclear bombs.

Food stamps are good, but there are abuses—and Congress must try to stop the abuses without throwing out the good that is in the program.

The person who pushed the food stamp program through originally, Rep. Leonor K.

Sullivan of Missouri, has stated her strong feeling that the program needs reform. If changes are not made, what is good about it will sink with the bad, she says.

Mrs. Sullivan, one of the ablest members of the House and the only woman who chairs

a full committee, is both pragmatic and idealistic. Her analysis is a hard but proper

He and Pres. Ford in an earlier phone call agreed to refrain from "divisive" campaigns. The President later said the ten commandments of the Bible are sufficient to govern his campaign activities.

When he opened his campaign for the 1976 Presidential nomination, Reagan told his new conference he would honor

the "commandments"; "Thou shalt not speak ill of any fellow

Republican."

As Mr. Ford's reaction

statement to Reagan's announced candidacy was interpreted as a blunt instrument.

He derided Reagan's "simplistic thinking," lumping him with George Wallace.

While avoiding personal criticism of the President,

Reagan did allude to Mr. Ford's

22 years of service as Washington's "stylistic

"buddy system."

Percy sent Reagan, former

California governor, a letter this night before he delivered by

Sen. Paul Laxalt, the Nevada freshman who is Reagan's the assessment.

Everyone agrees that reform is needed. Another

Congressman, Rep. Gerald

Ford has submitted his ideas for change. Sen. George McGovern

has presented his suggestions for change.

What is clear is that some who should not be getting the food stamps are receiving them, and others who should be getting them are not.

In theory, the program guarantees food to every American family that no matter how small their income, they will have enough to eat. That helps farmers and grocers and many others indirectly.

But some who need help the most find it difficult to come up with their share to buy food stamps, while others who have incomes as high as $12,000 a year find themselves eligible for food stamp assistance.

About possible changes is the proposal to transfer the program out of the Department of Agriculture—which does not want state and local agency control. The bill, which is better equipped to oversee the operation. I favor that change.

A measure sponsored by Sen.

Robert Dole of Kansas, former Republican national chairman, and Sen. McGovern would take two steps which are also desirable.

First, the Dole-McGovern bill sets up a maximum net income of $7,700 for a family of four to be eligible. That seems to me a sensible limitation. Exceptions are made where there are high medical bills or other unusual problems.

Second, it changes the way food stamps are handled so that instead of, for example, paying $100 for $150 worth of stamps, if you are eligible for $20 worth of stamps, you are simply given the $20 worth of stamps.

The present process results in an excessive number of stamps and sometimes denies help to those who need it the most because they cannot come up with the money for that first purchase.

The idea of guaranteeing that every citizen in our country can have food on the table is sound.

But good programs can go astray. This one has. Not as much as many people imagine, but enough so that corrective action should be taken.

The present program costs approximately $6 billion. By exercising more care, at least $1 billion can be saved and those who are most in need of help can be given greater help.

INVENTIVE FREEZER being added to Prairie Farms Dairy, 1800 Adams St., utilizes a unique set of gravity-fed storage racks which support the building and which will improve inventory control. Products are loaded

New storage facility

A new $52,575 freezer addition to Prairie Farms Dairy, 1800 Adams Street, is beginning to take shape and will soon offer the dairy, "one of the easiest and most economical modes of storage and inventory control," John J. Donoff, professional engineer on the project, explained while reviewing progress of the addition.

Donoff, a Madison High School graduate, is employed by Massey Equipment Co., St. Louis, and is in charge of installing the Interlake courier storage and retrieval system being placed in the new dairy addition.

He explained the addition consists primarily of a steel framework which includes many vertical and horizontal rows for stock storage.

The steel racks will support most of the building addition, Donoff explained the Interlake racks, produced in Pontiac, Ill., are actually many series of tilted rows, or conveyors, along which products are placed and move by gravity into lines where they await shipping. If one row contains only one specific product, such as French-fried potatoes, new inventories of the potatoes are loaded at one end of the rack system and flow by gravity to the other end, from which they are taken for distribution.

The system allows a constant rotation of food products, which is important to keeping the products fresh, he explained. M. H. Wolfe & Co. of Granite City is general contractor for concrete construction and wall erection for the new freezer, which will enclose about 7,000 square feet. The freezer is expected to be in operation by January.

Another advantage of the storage and conveyor racks, which are about 26 feet high in the new building, is that there is very little space needed for handling the products, Donoff said. Nearly all of the space is used for storage, except for rows at either end, one for loading the products onto the racks and the other for removing the products and loading them onto trucks.

Transfer vehicles, similar to fork trucks on elevators which also move from side to side, are used for loading and unloading the products at either end of the shelves.

BURGLARY ON SUNSET

A rear window was pried open and numerous items were removed from the home of Martin Davis, 2821 Sunset Drive, it was reported Monday. Items stolen included a camera and assorted silver coins. Davis was to conduct an inventory to determine what else is missing.

Humane group offers Christmas adoptions

A variety of puppies, kittens and larger dogs and cats will be available for adoption Saturday and Sunday at the Quad-City Association for Protection of Animals' new adoption shelter at Nameoki Village Shopping Center.

Adoptions can be made from 10:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. on both days at the shelter, located between the front entrance to Gaese Drugs and The Fabric Store in Nameoki Village.

Mrs. Mary Ann Loftus, adoption supervisor, said this weekend's adoption clinic will be the last prior to the yuletide holidays.

Those wishing to adopt a pet for Christmas giving can make arrangements with the APA for the cat or dog to be kept until Christmas for a small boarding fee, Mrs. Loftus said.

Among the animals available are two litters of puppies. One consists of half-beagle pups and the second has a number of half-wirehaired fox terriers. Various cats and kittens, 3 months to adult age, including tabbies, tricolor and orange, are ready to be adopted.

"Pet of the Month" for December is Boots, a fairly large female dog, well behaved and loves children, Mrs. Loftus said. About the size of a medium German Shepherd, Boots has semi-long hair and is 5 years old.

The animal has a brindle coat with white markings and is alert to strangers, the supervisor said. "She is obedient and very well behaved and may be kept indoors or outside," she added.

Gigi, a medium size, all white half-poodle, 2 years old, also is available to a family and another special animal is Squeaky, a 18-month-old neutered male cat, orange and white.

Twin male kittens, about 6 months old, who resemble television's Morris, are among the available cats.

A nominal fee is asked of those adopting a pet from the APA, Mrs. Loftus said. Funds are used to feed and provide medical attention for the animals left in APA care, she explained.

The humane group is a non-profit organization which is funded solely by donations and personal contributions of members.

The new adoption shelter at Nameoki Village was constructed and erected by youths from Boys Town of Missouri as a special project of the school's vocational-building department. Designs and materials for the small cabin were provided by the local APA group.

84 Lumber plans Yule parties

84 Lumber Co., with a local outlet on Routes 111 and 35, will be host for what may well be the world's largest Christmas party, it was announced last week.

On Sunday, Dec. 7, all 115 of the 84 Lumber stores will hold Christmas parties for 84 club members, guests and friends of 84.

The parties will feature the Paul Bunyan games — open to all guests — men, women and children. The games are contests in nail-driving, cross cut sawing, log rolling and tobacco putting for distance and accuracy. Winners of each event get free turkeys as prizes. There is also a nail guessing contest and a coloring contest for the youngsters, company officials said.

The parties will begin at each store at 1 p.m. and continue until 5 p.m. Experience has shown that an average of 1,000 will attend each store's free party, which means that 84 should entertain over 100,000 at this year's parties, it was reported.

Customer Christmas parties have been an annual affair with 84 Lumber since it opened its first lumber store in Eighty Four, Pa., just south of Pittsburgh, in 1857.

Need jurors only part-time, county says in reducing pay

Madison County Board members were told last week that about 90 per cent of the time jurors are on call is wasted waiting for trials to start. The assertion was based on an estimate made by the circuit clerk's office.

After passing an amendment to reduce jurors' pay from $10 per day to $5, board members said they felt a juror should be allowed to continue his normal schedule until he is needed.

It was suggested the court study a plan to allow jurors to be sworn in and then return home or to work until needed, as long as he can be reached immediately by telephone and has told the court where he can be reached.

Jurors can reach the courthouse within one hour from any part of the county, it was emphasized.

The motion to reduce the jurors' pay as part of a general county budget cut passed on a 22 to 5 vote, with opponents saying they felt the pay should remain at $10.

A perpetual easement on county highways was approved for the Madison County Cablevision Corp. for possible future cable television lines.

It was noted that the easements affect rights-of-way owned only by the county and do not include rights-of-way on private property.

"They will have to negotiate that with the property owners, if rights-of-way are needed on private land," one board member noted.

Madison County employees will enjoy 12 holidays during 1976, the County Board decided.

At the recommendation of the county buildings committee, the board approved closing the county courthouse at Edwardsville for the 12 holidays and giving most county employees holidays.

Holiday dates are: Jan. 1, New Year's Day; Feb. 12, Lincoln's birthday; Feb. 16, Washington's birthday; April 16, Good Friday; May 31, Memorial Day holiday; July 5, Independence Day holiday; Nov. 11, Veterans' Day; Nov. 25, Thanksgiving; and Dec. 24, Christmas Eve.

The board requested that James Barton, county supervisor, conduct the assessments, and the Madison County State's attorney's office investigate the amount an Alton newspaper is charging the county for legal publications on which per-line rates are set by state law.

Increase ramp cost

A second change order increasing the cost of a ramp into the courthouse for the handicapped was approved last week by the Madison County Board.

The change increased the cost of having Redi-Out Stone and John Rapp, architect, install a heating element into the ramp to melt snow and ice.

The board approved $4,000 for the heating element in the first change order and increased that appropriation to $6,005 with the latest change order. The ramp is being constructed with Community Development Grant funds.

Rapp also was selected as architect to design a bi-centennial display in the lobby of the Madison County Courthouse at Edwardsville. A statue of James Madison in the center of the lobby with historical showcases along the walls of the lobby is envisioned.

A proposal for the Mental Health Clinic, Quad-City

Center, Granite City, to operate a satellite out-patient center in the county's tuberculosis clinic building was approved by the board, with the provision the Quad-City Center pay for insurance on the two rooms of the TB Clinic it will use.

A resolution increasing the monthly rate per patient at the Madison County Shelter Care Home to $850 was approved by the board. Rising costs of care were cited as one reason for the increase.

A contract with the IBM Corp., St. Louis, was approved in which the county will purchase two data recorders for $10,197. The county has been leasing the units and the agreement credits all of the leasing costs toward the total purchase price.

Ted Todoroff, county Civil Defense director, was designated as "surplus property donee and custodian," making him responsible for the acceptance and accountability of surplus property in the county.

A resolution was approved allowing the board's chairman, Nelson Hagnauer of Granite City, to enter into contracts with cities, villages and townships to continue the Community Development Grant program.

Low bids were accepted to install a circuit breaker at the Civil Defense Building, to purchase six hand-carried radios and one charger unit for the sheriff's department and to purchase electrical assessments, and the Madison County State's attorney's office investigate the amount an Alton newspaper is charging the county for legal publications on which per-line rates are set by state law.

Permit also was given the administration to advertise for bids for pest control for each of the county owned buildings.

Two hurt as car hits pole

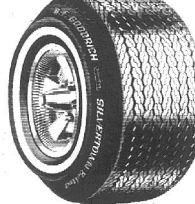

Two young men were injured when their car struck a utility pole and a no parking sign in the 1400 block of State Street at 12:05 a.m. Tuesday.

Bruce Burnett, 24, of Rural Route Two, Box 744, Granite City, the driver, was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital with head injuries, including abrasions to his forehead. Larry McPalls, 22, of 3024 Buxton Ave., a passenger, suffered an injury to his throat and was released from the hospital after x-rays were taken.

Bicentennial theme for Peppermint Players tour

The Peppermint Players toured all 16 elementary schools in the Granite City school district last month, officially launching the school district's commemoration of the Bicentennial.

The Peppermint Players were commissioned to tour the elementary schools by Alan Crider, director of gifted programs who is co-ordinator of the Bicentennial programs for the school district.

The programs presented were 20-minute special adaptations of two plays by Dr. Gonia Michaeloff, including songs and dances having a Bicentennial theme.

The scene for "Wolf and the Red, White and Blue" was colonial America and showed how Betsy Ross of Philadelphia received some assistance in designing the American flag from her two playful puppies.

The second special play was titled "A Visit to Mount Vernon" in which a class of elementary school children take a trip to Mount Vernon to learn more about George Washington with their mascot, a patriotic teddy bear.

Serving as special narrators in the program were Dawn Stoyanoff as the Peppermint Girl, and Debbie Carmichael, Debbie Roney, Toni Simurda and Cindy White as "Peppies."

The cast for the play "Wolf and the Red, White and Blue" included Lori Adams as Sara Jane, Pat Verschuy as Mary, Tami Hurlbrink as Mary's mother, Rod Wortham as a messenger, Sabrina Baden as Betsy Ross and Henry Martin and John VonNida as the puppies.

"A Visit to Mount Vernon" cast included Ed Sedej as the patriotic teddy bear, Ernie Morris as a painter, John Runyon as Freddie, Carla Reynolds as Miss Shelby, Rod Wortham as a guard, and Teresa Tingley, Jerry Broadwater and VonNida as the children.

Dr. Michaeloff, chairman of the speech department at North, started the Peppermint Players in the fall of 1973 when North opened.

The purpose of the group is to offer beginning advanced speech students an opportunity to present live theater performances to child audiences, thus introducing both high school and elementary school students to worthwhile children's literature.

The Peppermint Players include different students each semester, in different program tours of four elementary schools during both the fall and spring semesters.

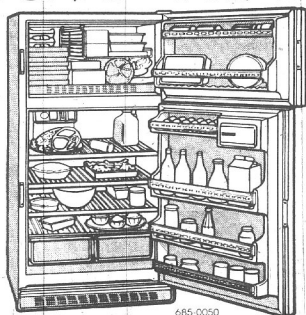

Students design their own costumes which are made by their parents especially for use in the programs.

Portable scenery used in the programs is designed by Dr. Michaeloff.

Except for this Bicentennial celebration, programs are based upon classic children's stories with scripts written by the students.

This year, the Peppermint Players will expand their program to include a children's theater play to be performed on Saturday, May 1, 1976, at Granite City High School North.

Board defends bigger school payout, hopes economy improves by spring

Supporting the policy of full funding of the original formula for state aid to schools, and on the advice of its legal counsel, the State Board of Education has broken away from the advice of the governor who appointed it. The board last week resolved to pay out to the schools within the appropriation 1-12 of the formula each month.

The board listened to Budget Director Leonard Schaeffer and State Rep. Arthur Berman and read a letter from State Sen. David Shapiro before arriving at its decision.

The board is aware that the funds presently available may run out late in the 1975-76 school year. At that time—probably in the spring—a supplemental appropriation could be requested. Historically, this has been the pattern for a number of years, a spokesman said.

However, board members cautioned public school districts to achieve necessary economies and not to assume that a supplemental appropriation will be "automatic," if general economy does not improve. Board staff members presented legal opinions on the statutory authority for the decision.

The resolution relates that the State Board of Education supports full funding of the state aid formula.

"The General Assembly has failed to override the governor's reduction veto of $81 million from the state aid formula appropriation."

In every instance that the general state aid appropriation has been insufficient, the General Assembly has passed a supplemental appropriation in the spring to fully fund the formula.

"Without additional revenue, many school districts will be forced into costly short-term borrowing."

"The present policy of paying monthly state aid claims on the basis of the reduced appropriation rather than estimated entitlement would lengthen the period in which districts would have to borrow against next year's anticipated revenues."

"This additional drain on the limited resources currently available to school districts can be avoided by following the traditional procedure of payment on the basis of estimated entitlement."

"It is hereby resolved that monthly state aid payments to school districts will be made in an amount equal to 1-12 of their estimated entitlement rather than 1-12 of the present appropriation for this purpose."

Illinois Bell plans awards

An Illinois Bell retiree has spent many hours recording books for the visually disabled during the past five years. An Illinois Bell employee founded a group for recycling glass, paper, metal, etc., which later became the model for other environmental organizations.

For six years, another employee has spent a half-day each month taking a blind couple shopping, then carrying and storing what is purchased. These are the types of activities that can qualify Illinois Bell people for the "Alexander Graham Bell Award for outstanding community service," according to Ken Evers, manager of Illinois Bell in Granite City.

Illinois Bell has created this new award to be given annually to four employees and four retirees as formal recognition of outstanding volunteer participation. Nominations can be made by anyone, and Illinois Bell welcomes nominations from the public, Evers said. Community service has been a tradition with telephone people since the days of the first telephone man — Alexander Graham Bell. The inventor of the telephone and other devices, Bell also devoted much time to helping the physically disabled throughout his life. Evers noted, in fact, his invention of the telephone led from his work as a teacher of the deaf and his acquired knowledge of human speech and hearing, the manager said.

The new award has been developed to honor deserving telephone people who follow in Bell's tradition of service to others. The awards will first be given in the centennial year of the telephone, 1976, for community activities in 1975.

Separate awards — Four to employees and four to retirees — will be made in each of the categories of social services (works devoted to improving the comfort, convenience, education, or entertainment of the young, elderly, handicapped, or disadvantaged); physical assistance (including ministering to bodily needs through such things as first aid, physical therapy, etc.); administrative assistance ("office work" such as typing, filing, answering phones, making calls, etc.); and environmental activities (helping to conserve natural resources, improve ecology, or the aesthetics of the surroundings).

Awards will be based on seven factors: the need for the activity, its scope, the degree of ingenuity used, obstacles overcome, amount of time devoted, effort involved, and the facilities used.

All active and retired employees are eligible for the Alexander Graham Bell Awards. Candidates must have received no monetary compensation for the activity nominated for the award and awards will be made to individuals, not groups or organizations. Evers said, Part or all of the volunteer activity or service must have taken place during the year for which the award will be given. Anyone wishing to nominate an Illinois Bell employee or retiree should submit the candidate's name, address and a description of the volunteer activity, plus the nominator's own name, address and phone number, to: Alex Awards, Illinois Bell, 406 E. Monroe, SW, Springfield, Ill. 62721. Deadline for entries is Dec. 31, 1975. Awards will be presented in March.

For the past few months we've been telling you that calling Directory Assistance is a very expensive habit. And that one way to hold down the cost of telephone service is to look up the number yourself whenever possible.

But if you're making frequent calls to areas that aren't included in your local phone book, you may need other directories.

You may even need an extra copy of your local directory. If so, just call toll-free 800-972-0418, or your Illinois Bell Service Representative. And we'll see that you get the extra directories you need, usually at no extra charge (for Illinois Bell customers only).

Last year Directory Assistance service cost about $55 million. Even though most numbers are listed in the phone book.

So whenever you can, please look up the number yourself.

If you need extra phone directories, call 800-972-0418.

Madison Coordinated Youth Services office now open

Parents and youth of Madison will now be able to receive a multitude of helpful services from the Madison Coordinated Youth Services office which opened Monday at 409 Madison Ave.

A resolution authorizing the Coordinated Youth Services of Granite City to open a similar office in Madison was approved by the Madison City Council during its Feb. 11 meeting. The agency will work with all types of social problems and try to help youths before they get into trouble with the police.

The services offered will include counseling for both parents and youth, assisting youth in locating employment, help direct youth to positive community involvement, including such various aspects as the "big brother" program.

Counseling services will be given to aid youth in gaining insight into their personalities and to redirect their behavior into more acceptable forms.

A $100,000 grant through the Illinois Law Enforcement commission for funds under the federal Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968 was jointly filed and approved for Madison, Pontoon Beach and Granite City. The cost to the city for the multi-service agency is $2,000.

GC aldermen view televised inspection of sewer lines

Granite City Council members had their first opportunity Monday night to view results of the use of the city's $42,000 worth of sewer inspection equipment in a televised demonstration arranged by City Engineer Monroe Brewer.

For ten minutes the aldermen viewed part of a one-hour tape of a televised inspection of an eight-inch sanitary sewer line along Dale Avenue, the first area in which the new equipment was put to use.

The television system and a grouting unit which operates inside the sewer line to reseat separated joints in sewer tiles was purchased by the city as the first step in a five-year program to rehabilitate the sewer system in the Namecki area where the city has spent nearly $3 million in sewer repairs during the past five years.

Purchase of the televising and grouting equipment was recommended in a $30,000 survey completed last summer by Sverdrup & Parcel Associates, St. Louis engineering firm, and Dr. Robert Koepke, assistant professor of earth sciences and planning at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

In filming the sewer interiors, the cameras are pulled from manhole to manhole on cables. The tape shown on television for the aldermen Monday night clearly showed tree roots growing into the sewer lines and water dripping from around separated joints. Brewer said that if the pictures had been taken during a heavy rain, water would be seen running into the lines.

The Namecki area has 22 miles of sanitary sewer lines, or about 40 percent of the city's entire sewer system.

Brewer said that while the televising work continues to inspect all of the lines, grouting work will close up most of the gaps where tiles have separated. The inspection, which Brewer said will take four to five years to complete, also will reveal cracks, breaks or damaged areas where breaks might occur.

The data obtained in the televising will be turned over to Sverdrup & Parcel for the design of permanent repair work where needed.

Thirty-nine major sewer breaks have occurred in the Namecki area since the spring floods of 1973. The city spent $1.6 million in repair work on these breaks. More than $1 million in repairs was spent during a similar series of breaks in the late 1960s. In its survey report, Sverdrup & Parcel estimated that the cost of overall replacement of the Namecki sewers would cost $16.5 million.

DeMolays to attend services

The James Stuart Chapter, Order of DeMolay, held a regular meeting Tuesday night at the Masonic Temple where the new members of the Tri-State Class at Davenport, Iowa, were welcomed by Stan Myers, master counselor.

Plans were completed to attend the 10-40 service of the Niedringhaus United Methodist Church Sunday morning. Families of DeMolays are invited to attend with their sons and are to be at the church at 10:20 to gather before entering in a group.

DeMolays are to bring presents for children at Shriners Crippled Children's Hospital to the meeting Dec. 16 and they will be taken to the hospital shortly before Christmas.

A class of candidates was scheduled for the Jan. 6 meeting. Petitions for the class are to be brought to the Dec. 16 meeting.

Also discussed were plans to attend a St. Louis University hockey and a St. Louis Spirits basketball game. Bowling is to be continued at the Bowland Lanes on Saturday morning at 10 a.m.

Hearing Monday

The Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals will hold an on-site public hearing at 11:25 a.m. Monday at 4121 Division St., where Fred Hartline is requesting a special use permit to place a mobile home for additional living space. The family presently occupies a three-room house on the property, which is in an R-3 single family residential district of Namecki Township.

Prior to presentation of the skit, President Nancy Bezan presided at the business meeting at which reports were heard from Kathy Jones, faculty advisors Patricia Conrad and Judi Sparks, and NSA representative Charlie Yurkovic.

Miss Conrad urged GCHS South FSA members to contact her either before or after school if they had any questions, since she didn't have them in any of her classes.

Arrangements for filling stockings for the residents of the Madison County Sheltered Care Home were announced by Mrs. Yurkovic, and it was decided that a form would be sent to the FSA members so they would have an opportunity to fill stockings if they wished. Those who will be able to participate will be announced prior to Friday, Dec. 12, and their selection will be decided by a drawing. Points will be
